MAYOR CALLS ON POLICE TO ABANDON THE UNION

FIND DYNAMITE IN GAS PLANT

STRIKERS ACCUSED OF PLOT

Worcester, Aug. 27.—Officials of the Worcester Gas Light Company today claimed that dynamite was found in their plant and that machinery had been tampered with.

The statement followed a strike suddenly called yesterday by the Gas Workers' Union. The dynamite case is being investigated by the police. Meanwhile, scores of strike-breakers are being imported here.

The company states it intends to keep up a supply of gas for the city, and so assured Mayor Pehr G. Holmes, who returned to enjoy his vacation in New Hampshire.

Worcester now has about eighteen hours' supply of gas, but the officials state that production tonight again will fill the tanks.

The public has been cautioned to use gas carefully. It is the intention of the company to fight the matter to a finish. Conferences between the union representatives and their counsel, Charles F. Campbell, were being held this afternoon. The men walked out without asking or securing any advice from Campbell, it was stated.

SENATORS FALL AND NELSON QUARREL

McCumber Also Involved in Dispute Over Treaty—Almost Come to Blows

Washington, Aug. 27.—The peace treaty was the cause of a heated fight on the floor of the Senate among Republican senators today which started when Senator Fall of New Mexico, Senator Nelson of Minnesota and Senator McCumber of North Dakota engaged in a battle of words that at times threatened physical encounter.

Senator Fall was answering the charge made yesterday by Senator McCumber that the action of the Foreign Relations Committee in amending the peace treaty so as to restore Shantung to China was a "poisoned dagger."

"All through this debate there has

PROTESTS INNOCENCE TO POLICE

The first arrest in connection with the robbery in Roxbury on Tuesday, when Raymond S. Gurney, messenger of the Fidelity Trust Company, was held up and robbed of $12,000, was made today when John J. Reilly, 21, of Withington street, Dorchester, was taken into custody by Special Officer Stephen J. Gillis and Patrolman William T. Cummings of the Dudley street station.

Reilly was arrested as he was leaving his home. The house had been under surveillance for several hours.

Since the robbery the police have worked zealously on the case. Last night the chauffeur who drove the taxi at the time of the holdup appeared at the station at the behest of Captain Skillings, who questioned him at length. This with other facts gathered by Captain Skillings led to the arrest of Reilly today.

When taken into custody Reilly expressed surprise. He was taken to the Dudley street station and later was confronted by Bank Messenger Gurney and the chauffeur. They declared he was one of the bandits who engaged in the robbery.

Fire Rescue Squad in Action Aboard Ship

Extinguish $20,000 blaze that caused dense smoke amongst sugar cargo—One fireman injured in battle.

Fire rescue squad extinguishing blaze in sugar cargo aboard the Western Scout.

The rescue squad of the Boston fire department, with its smoke masks, was called to action today when fire broke out in the hold of the steamer Western Scout among the bags of sugar originally seized at Charlestown by the Federal authorities.

The blaze caused damage estimated by the firemen at $20,000, indefinitely postponed the sailing of the steamer scheduled for today, and resulted in the removal to the Relief Station of Hoseman John J. Ladigan, whose hands were lacerated by a falling pipe.

The Western Scout, loaded with sugar, cotton, machinery and raw steel, was tied up at Pier 46, Mystic docks, ready to sail for European ports when fire broke out in the midship hold. When the firemen arrived in response to an automatic alarm, it was burning briskly in the bags of sugar, and making thick smoke. District Chief Riley telephoned for the rescue squad, consisting of Daniel Martell, Daniel Crowley, William Cheswell, son of the late Chief Cheswell, and John Coleman. Wearing smoke masks the men descended into the hold and extinguished the blaze. The interior of the vessel was practically flooded with water.

Braintree Girl of 15 Is Charged With Jewelry Theft

Mabel Le Roy, fifteen, of South street, Braintree, was in Waltham Court today charged with theft of jewelry from a Watertown house and with entering a house in Cambridge. Her case was continued until Tuesday and she was returned to the care of her father, Aleck Le Roy.

According to Mabel's story, she decided to leave home because of jealousies between three other children and a stepmother. She attempted to get factory work, and on being refused went to the home of James Battles, No. 25 Rangeley road, to seek work as a domestic.

It was charged that she entered while Mrs. Battles was upstairs and, attracted by some jewelry lying on a table, helped herself. Later, it is alleged, she went to Cambridge and entered a house there, where she was turned over to the police by the occupants.

WILSON OFFER IS REJECTED BY SHOPMEN

Votes of 1,800 Announced—Over 500,000 Ballots to Be Cast by Railroad Workers

East Liverpool, O., Aug. 27.—Eighteen hundred employes of the Cleveland & Pittsburgh Railroad shops at Wellsville have voted by an overwhelming majority to turn down President Wilson's offer of a wage increase of four cents an hour.

Washington, Aug. 27.—Because of the gravity of the situation, 500,000 shopmen will immediately take an expedited vote on President Wilson's compromise offer of a four-cent wage increase.

Ordinarily this balloting would take three weeks, but in this case orders have been given to rush procedure and make returns by wire, so that the results may be known in fourteen days.

The question of whether or not the

PETERS SUPPORTS CURTIS IN CRISIS

Mayor Peters today issued a statement supporting Commissioner Curtis in his attitude to the police union, and calling upon the American Federation of Labor and the Boston policemen to relinquish their plan.

"The American Federation of Labor deserves our co-operation and support," said the Mayor, "in every proper way, but I do not think that the policemen in any of our States or municipalities should become affiliated with it. This, as I understand it, is Commissioner Curtis' position, and in this I think he is right.

"I earnestly hope both the American Federation of Labor and the Boston police officers will voluntarily relinquish their plan."

A short time before this statement was issued the Mayor told the American that a slash in city payrolls and reduction in employes in the various departments would probably result if the city was compelled to pay the police higher wages during the present fiscal year.

Mayor Peters returned to Boston unexpectedly today in attempt to settle the police dispute.

He conferred with numerous leaders in civic and political life and then met reporters. He declared he would make no compromise offer of a salary increase for the patrolmen, inasmuch as they had received an increase of $200 about two months ago.

In the meantime the city anxiously awaits the decision of Commissioner Curtis in the case of the eight union leaders tried yesterday.

Today Captain Charles Reardon of the Dorchester station withdrew all the patrolmen from the street at 9.30 for questioning.

Mayor Peters conferred with Fire Commissioner John R. Murphy, John R. Macomber, president of the Chamber of Commerce and C. F. Weed, president of the First National Bank. He made plans for a conference with

He pointed out that the [illegible] sent to the shopmen calling for a strike vote was very conservative. He also said that the communication laid stress upon the fact that if there were to be any wage increases for railroad employes the shopmen would get the same consideration. On the other hand, it was impressed on the shopmen that if they struck at this time they would "strike alone to force an increase for two million railroad employes."

Settlement or Spread of R. R. Strike From West Depends on Conferences

Los Angeles, Cal., Aug. 27.—The railroad strike, which has spread over California and part of Arizona, may settle down to a process of settlement today or sweep through the entire West and possibly the entire country. This was the situation seen today as [illegible] meetings were held by strikers here and at other points following instructions sent to [illegible] from W. S. Stone, president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, that the brotherhood members return to work immediately.

M. P. Montgomery, vice-president of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers; L. L. Sanford, Pacific coast representative, and other officers were secretive as to the instructions received or what was to be done.

Officials of the railroad brotherhoods were declared to be making a concentrated effort to hold their men [illegible] and end the strike. [illegible] faction among the railroad workers was said to be endeavoring to induce the men to "take the matter in their own hands" and to refuse to return to work.

CAPTAIN GRILLS PATROLMEN AT DORCHESTER

Reardon Questions Every Man in Station Before Police Stenographer

Commissioner Curtis and announced that later he would have a statement for the public.

He quizzed reporters on the police situation, and when asked if he would make a compromise offer of more pay stated he would not owing to the recently granted increase. The Mayor contends the question of pay is not involved and that it is merely a question of the right of the men to join a labor organization.

At the Dorchester station the patrolmen were asked the twenty-three questions that seem to chiefly interest the authorities. There are twenty men in this station who do not belong to the union and it is said there have been three defections from the union ranks. In the case of the three it is claimed that officers who hold higher positions in the department influenced them in their change.

At police headquarters today there is nothing to indicate that Commissioner Curtis plans to make an immediate announcement of his finding in the case of the union leaders recently tried. It is believed that he has received a typewritten transcript of the arguments made by Messrs. Feeney, Vahey and Devlin and that he is looking them over.

Furthermore it is thought that the commissioner is looking into the matter for the purpose of rendering a decision based on the law just as soon as is possible. Thus far there has been no indication given that Mr. Curtis has in any wise changed his stand as regards the union.

Among the members of the department and especially those in the union, the impression prevails that the arguments advanced by Messrs. Feeney and Vahey will prevail in a court of law even though the commissioner should render an adverse decision. The question of strike is less talked of by the uniformed men than by anybody else.

"We seek to give Boston better protection," said President McInnis today, "and we feel certain that through the union better protection will be forthcoming. We feel that there is ample opportunity to better the lot of the individual policeman. As I have repeatedly said, we decry strikes. We only feel that we have a just grievance and that we are entitled to the same privilege as other workingmen.

SEEK BETTER HOME CONDITIONS.

"We seek for better home conditions, for better lives and more happiness. I admit that there are some officers who at times have done things they should not have done. Possibly I myself have done some of these things. I believe, and the men believe with me, that through the medium of this union the better conditions will come and the improvements we so much want will result.

"I am amazed to hear that the Dorchester district is without police protection today. The union doesn't desire that. We want every part of the city thoroughly and efficiently policed and we stand ready to give this sort of protection. I do not believe that the interests of a great residential section should be sacrificed while these questions are being asked the men."

The enrollment of volunteer officers continues at the Chamber of Commerce Building. The former superintendent of police reports a brisk business during the early hours today. In fact he declares that in the first half-hour of business there were six men up for enrollment.

OFFICERS MAY DON UNIFORMS.

Police inspectors and sergeants who haven't worn uniforms in some years are having them brushed up in anticipation of orders that will send them into the street in the event of a crisis. Some of these men are having difficult times finding their badges, while others are nosing over their desks in search of revolvers seldom used and hardly ever carried.

WEALTHY WOMAN OFFERS ABANDONED BABY HOME

The tiny baby boy, who was picked up naked when only two hours old, near the corner of Commonwealth and Harvard avenues, Brighton, Friday, will not lack for a home. The first offer to take the little one was made by a wealthy woman who drove to the Newton Hospital.

This woman, whose name the hospital authorities refused to make public, offered to give the little boy a fine home. It was decided to hold the waif for a time in the hope that something might be learned of its parents.

UNION HAD PLANNED TO SEE MAN WHO IS DEAD

Framingham, Aug. 27.—A peculiar mixup has been caused through the labor trouble at the C. F. Baker & Co., Inc., manufacturers of [illegible], of which the men are awaiting action by the American Federation of Labor.

The men recently organized with the A. F. of L. as [illegible] sheet and tin workers, and were paid off by the superintendent of the company when they refused to abandon the union. A committee from the men it is reported [illegible] to confer with Martin Joyce of Boston, but Organizer [illegible] Gibson of Milford says this man is dead. The men plan to confer with a State committee.

WOMAN LABOR LEADER KILLED IN MINE RIOT

Pittsburgh, Pa., Aug. 27.—Mrs. Fannie Sellins, forty-five, organizer for the United Mine Workers, and a foreigner were shot and killed and five other persons were injured in a clash between strikers and their sympathizers and mine guards at Brackenridge, near here.

There has been a strike at the Allegheny Coal & Coke Company mines for some time, and the fight started when the guards ordered the strikers away from the property.

FALL DEFIED BY NELSON IN SENATE

Dispute Over Treaty Among Republican Members Threatens to Develop Fisticuffs

[illegible] a strain of impatience with those who do not agree with all in the treaty," said Senator Fall.

"I want to say to the public that at the first meeting of the Foreign Relations Committee, Senators sat down admitting that they had never read the treaty, but that they were ready to vote on it then.

"Yet some of those Senators have been assailing the treaty in this body and on the forum and those are the most impatient. There have been words of abuse instead of argument."

Senator Nelson of Minnesota interrupted here to inquire whether Senator Fall's objection to the treaty related to the return of Alsace-Lorraine and other provinces to "their rightful owners."

"There is no use attempting to chop up this treaty into mincemeat," said Senator Nelson. "When it gets into the Senate this mincemeat will be wiped out."

"There is no use of this Senator taking advantage of his old age," retorted Senator Fall.

CHALLENGED BY NELSON.

Jumping to his feet and pounding his desk, Senator Nelson shouted: "You needn't consider my age. Consider me the youngest man in the Senate."

"Well, there is a second childhood," answered Senator Fall.

"I want to say that the Senator now has a request before the committee for a hearing on the disposition of the Aaland Islands."

Addressing himself to the Shantung amendment, Senator Fall said:

"So far as I am concerned, I have given the Senator from North Dakota [illegible] for anybody. All I have asked is the same degree of patience for myself. I have found that when a man is so ready to criticize his own position is not secure. I am weary with this constant course of criticism. When the Senator from North Dakota makes a statement here that I have voted with any other motive than that which is apparent he makes a statement which is not true.

"The same spirit which disunited this Union before the Civil War is extant. The joining of the United States with the nations of Europe with whom she has nothing in common would just as surely destroy this great government as if the efforts of those who attempted to disrupt the Union in [illegible] were successful."

FALL READY FOR FIGHT.

"If this is to be made a political issue let it come. I have no fear of the result.

"Why all of this insistence for immediate action? Because those who take it as it comes from the White House themselves know that by discussion here the people are being informed as they have not been for the last seven years."

Secret Pact With Japan Denied By Lansing

Washington, Aug. 27.—"Any story of a secret agreement between this country and Japan is false," declared Secretary Lansing, when informed that the Petit Marseillaise claimed to have information that such an agreement was in existence.

Senator Lodge, who was mentioned by the Paris editor as having knowledge of the existence of the treaty, denied that he had ever heard of it.

"I am afraid the gentleman has it muddled with the Lansing-Ishii agreement," Senator Lodge commented.

EXPLAINS STORY OF WILSON PACT WITH JAPAN

Albin Says Agreement Caused President to Consent to Shantung Decision

Paris, Aug. 27.—Pierre Albin, the journalist who yesterday declared in the Petit Marseillais that President Wilson had entered into an agreement with Japan in 1917, today enlarged upon his explanation of the article, but continued to refuse to divulge the source of his information.

"I understand that President Wilson personally began negotiations with Japan at the end of 1916 as part of the American policy of improving relations between the United States and Japan," said M. Albin. "I cannot affirm that a written treaty was concluded, but the President is said to have gone so far as to recognize that Japan had special interests in China in view of the geographical relationship.

"The accord was in China's interests because it limited economic and financial consideration and guaranteed China's sovereignty. The entry of the United States into the war prevented the President from divulging the pact, which it is believed here was the real reason for Mr. Wilson's assent to the Shantung arrangement in the peace conference."

M. Albin, who was formerly attached to the French Foreign Office, has written several books on treaties.

U. S. TO OPEN OWN STORES IN BOSTON

Army Goods Will Be Sold at Retail Beginning Sept. 25

Retail stores for the direct sale to the public of army socks, underwear, shirts, raincoats, blankets, gloves, tobacco, soap and other articles will be opened in Boston by the United States government on September 25.

Other stores will be established in New York, Philadelphia, Atlanta, Chicago, Jeffersonville, Ind.; St. Louis, New Orleans, San Antonio, Omaha, El Paso, San Francisco and Washington.

Catalogues quoting prices and giving the location of the stores will be issued by the War Department before that date.

Temporary parcel sub-stations are to be fixtures of each of these stores and mail orders will be received and filled, although sales will not be made through the Postoffice Department or local postoffices. Prices by mail will be the same as those charged over the counter. Goods sold by mail will be delivered by parcel post.

The price catalogue will be obtainable at all postoffices and sub-stations in the country as soon as they can be prepared.

The action of the government in entering the retail business is expected to result, some officials think, in driving down prices and in at least partially defeating the plans of profiteers.

Sale of army food by parcel post is continuing at the South Boston supply base.

There will be no further sale of food at the Boston stations until after Labor Day.

We couldn't quite figure out what his job on the big ocean liner was, and as he was leaving inquired, with the answer, "Oh, I am the skipper." He is the captain. When he makes his next 3000 mile trip, he plans to walk through Filene's Basement again. He's got the habit. Have you?

FURFAX TRADE MARK

Here Are Splendid Opportunities in the Final Days of Our August Fur Sale

This August Fur Sale was not the thought of a minute and carried into effect without due preparation.

For months past we had observed the trend of prices and the world's shortage of high-class skins of every description.

We went into the market in the latter part of last year and made the most extensive purchases in our business history.

That our judgment on the situation was correct has been absolutely proved by the fact that furs of all descriptions today are in demand far in excess of skins on hand.

We decided to allow our customers to enjoy the fruits of our early purchases, and here in this August Fur Sale, now on its final days, you will see garments at under prices, but retaining the splendid quality of skins, high-grade workmanship and general wearing ability that have made the "Fur Store of Ideals" a Mecca for buyers of furs.

"MYSTERY GIRL" TOOL IN DEEP PLOT TO SLAY ENEMIES OF LENINE

VICTIM IS TORTURED TO DEATH

Girl Who Assisted Band Refuses Food, as She Awaits Fate

Stockholm, Aug. 27.—A maze of dark intrigue and political plotting with a beautiful sixteen-year-old girl, Dagmar Gysser, as one of the central figures, is expected to be revealed when the trial of the persons involved in the activities of the "Russian murder league" is resumed in this city.

All of the defendants are refugees from Russia and they are accused of causing the death of Dr. Ardasjeff, a wealthy Russian patriot, in a lonely villa on a small island in Lake Norwikken, near Stockholm. Many of the defendants are women.

The lakes in the neighborhood have been dragged for more victims. The most of the suspects arrested have denounced each other in an effort to gain immunity.

KNOWN AS MYSTERY GIRL.

Only Dagmar Gysser has maintained absolute silence. She has persistently refused food since her arrest and spends most of her time in her cell, smoking cigarettes and sipping black coffee. She has become known as the girl of mystery.

According to the investigation, which will be continued until the trial is resumed, Nicholai Lenine, the Bolshevik dictator at Moscow, feared that the Russian refugees in and around Stockholm were conspiring against him. The services of Colonel Hadji-Lashet were enlisted to do away with them. The spy was supplied with gold and came to Stockholm, where he pretended to be a fiery anti-Bolshevik. He ingratiated himself with the Russians who had fled to this city and soon began to circulate secret reports that Dr. Ardasjeff was really a Bolshevik spy.

Colonel Hadji-Lashet then selected the beautiful Dagmar as his tool, and it was in a limousine belonging to her father, General Gysser, that Ardasjeff was lured to the villa. Accounts differ as to how he was put to death.

DEATH SCENE DRAMATIC.

At a preliminary hearing it was said the doctor was beaten on the head by a woman with a poker, and then chloroformed. Another version is that he was chained to a wall and starved until weakened and then strangled.

There was a dramatic scene in the drawing room of the villa before Ardasjeff was put to death. Weak from hunger, he was led into a gaudily furnished drawing room. The walls were covered with heavy oriental curtains of red and gold, and the air was thick with cigarette smoke.

Several men and women, including Colonel Hadji-Lashet, were present. Ardasjeff was told if he signed several blank checks he might be spared. Ardasjeff signed the checks, which were afterwards cashed, and then collapsed in a chair. He was never seen alive again.

REPAIRS ON MARLBORO ROADS CAUSE ROW

Marlboro, Aug. 27.—Whether to hire an out-of-town contractor at $10 a day to supervise the spending of $20,000 in repairing Marlboro roads, was a lively subject of discussion between the street committee and Mayor Charles F. McCarthy at a special session. According to Mayor McCarthy, there is no need to hire out-of-towners to spend the city's money "when there are men at home who can spend it as fast as anybody needs to have it spent."

After many personal tilts the matter was referred to the city solicitor for an opinion on the legal aspects, while the council voted to support the street committee.

AUBURN MAN, 102 YEARS OLD, ALWAYS ABSTAINER

Auburn, Aug. 27.—Butler A. Bates celebrated his 102nd birthday anniversary at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Ruby R. O'Connell, on Oxford street. Mr. Bates was born in St. Albans, Vt., and is a Civil War veteran. He attributes his long life to abstinence from both tobacco and intoxicants.

Safe Deposit Hints

If a Bank offers you a bargain in a Safe Deposit Box, don't take it.

A Safe Deposit Box in a first-class city Safe Deposit Vault costs $10 a year (about 2¾ cents per day). Experience has proven that this charge is necessary to pay the proper maintenance expense of furnishing first-class protection.

If you are offered a Safe Deposit Box for less than that price there is a reason.

The Commonwealth Trust Company vaults, in all respects, comply with the standard set by experts. Box renters have the comfort of knowing they are as safe from loss as human ingenuity and experience can make them.

MAINE JEWEL ROBBERS ELUDE THE POLICE

Mrs. W. Seward Webb and, at right, her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Vanderbilt Webb, whose jewels evidently were the big prize sought by robbers who looted two Maine mansions.

Kennebunk, Me., Aug. 27.—State, county and private investigators engaged in the hunt for the burglars who robbed the home of Llewellyn Parsons on Sunday morning and that of John C. Breckenridge at York Corner on Tuesday morning are thus far baffled. The hunt for the motor car burglars still continues.

All facts tend to point toward a deliberate effort to rob Mrs. W. Seward Webb and her daughter-in-law, Mrs. Vanderbilt Webb. In social circles it is known that Mrs. Webb was in the habit of almost continually carrying with her, or wearing, jewels valued at $100,000. On the trip down from Bar Harbor the women carried with them only a portion of their valuables, hardly more than $14,000 worth.

That it was a deliberate scheme to rob the Webbs is apparent through the fact that no other rooms at the Parsons home were entered. That the Webbs were followed is evident from the fact that they were not expected at the Parsons villa until the following day.

Just why the robbers, who followed the party all the way from Bar Harbor to Kennebunk, did not hold them up on the road is one of the mysteries that puzzles Deputy Sheriff Ernest L. Jones, who is in complete charge of the investigation.

All along the York County coast line a strict watch is being maintained for the robbers, who are believed to be traveling in a high powered roadster. Sheriff Jones received a report today which he hopes will lead to arrests and the recovery of all the valuables.

GEN. EDWARDS DENIES REPORT OF SHAKEUP

Major-General C. R. Edwards denied today rumors of impending transfers of Major Horace T. Aplington and Captain Charles A. Bixby from the Motor Transport Corps on account of trouble existing over discharge of eighteen men from that service.

The rumor to this effect was persistent for some time at army headquarters, but is now denied by the commanding general, who today said:

"I wish to deny the transfers of Major Horace T. Aplington and Captain Charles A. Bixby to other units.

"This news is unwarranted and puts these officers in a bad light. They have performed their duties satisfactorily.

"They have the right to ask to be transferred elsewhere, but this has nothing to do with the recent action in Motor Transport Corps."

Major Aplington today explained the status of the men discharged from the Motor Transport Corps. He said:

"One man was discharged, two others were allowed to resign and the others will have their names placed on the list for re-employment when there are vacancies."

$150,000 SALARY INCREASES FOR BROOKLINE

Wage and salary increases amounting to $150,000 a year for town employes are recommended in a report submitted by the Selectmen of Brookline, along with the warrant for the town meeting, September 9.

With the exception of laborers, patrolmen, lower grade firemen and salaried officials giving only part time to public affairs, the increases are calculated on a percentage basis. Thus, those receiving $1,000 or less get a 20 per cent. increase, those getting between $1,000 and $2,000 get a 15 per cent raise, those between $2,000 and $3,500 get 10 per cent., and those above that figure a 5 per cent. increase.

The town laborers, who petitioned for $4.50 a day, are to get $4, if the recommendations are accepted in town meeting. Patrolmen joining the force will get $1,300, instead of $1,200, as at present, and an increase of $100 annually on completion of three, four, five and six years of service, making the maximum $1,700. The police sergeants are recommended for a $277.50 raise, the lieutenants for 10 per cent. more than the present scale of $2,200 and the chief of the department for 10 per cent. more.

Captains and lieutenants in the fire department are recommended for the same pay as police lieutenants and sergeants, respectively.

The expense of meeting the new scale will be approximately $50,000 for the remainder of 1919, it is estimated. Other appropriations recommended are: Public schools, $17,065; maintaining Public Library, $1,590; water works, $1,500; parks and playgrounds, $2,820; highways and sidewalks, $5,915; sewers, $630; public safety and health, $11,252; administration expenses, $8,436.

LEGION URGED TO ADMIT SHIPPING BOARD MEMBERS

An earnest plea that employes of the United States Shipping Board be recognized as eligible to membership in the American Legion was made at the meeting of Lawrence J. Flaherty Post of East Boston by Captain Ernest E. Drake of the East Boston Training Station.

The post, while it could not under its charter admit Shipping Board men to active membership, elected Captain Drake an honorary member. Plans were made for the field day which will be held at Wood Island Park Labor Day.

EIGHT DIVORCE CASES FILED IN CAMBRIDGE

Infidelity, Desertion, Cruelty and Drunkenness Charged by Various Petitioners

Infidelity, desertion and cruelty are some of the alleged causes back of the eight divorce suits filed by Middlesex County spouses in Superior Court at East Cambridge.

Mrs. Ruth F. Harvey of Malden charges her husband, Harold L. Harvey, of Boston, with having been unfaithful, and asks for the custody of a minor child. They were married in Revere in 1916.

William F. Armstrong of Malden is charged with cruel and abusive treatment, non-support and gross and confirmed habits of intoxication, by Mrs. Etta A. Armstrong.

Arthur Dandurand of Lowell charges that his wife, Mrs. Isabel Dandurand, of Lowell, deserted him on March 20, 1919. He asks for the custody of a minor child. The couple were married in Lowell, February 15, 1909, and have since lived there.

George A. Hunt of Woburn claims that his wife, Mrs. Mazie H. Hunt, now of parts unknown, deserted him at Woburn on March 16, 1902. They were married in Boston August 17, 1897, and have since lived in Woburn.

That her husband, Anton Brostrom of Everett, was guilty of cruel and abusive treatment and also gross and confirmed habits of intoxication, is the allegation made by Mrs. Borghild A. Brostrom of Everett. She asks for the custody of a minor child.

Mrs. Amanda M. Littlefield of Somerville alleges that her husband, Thatcher G. Littlefield of Arlington, deserted her at Somerville on May 20, 1915. They were married in Wells, Me., December 20, 1893, and have since lived in Medford and Somerville.

Mrs. Winnifred [illegible] Swanson of Everett claims that her husband, Charles J. Swanson of Everett treated her cruelly and abusively. She asks for the custody of a minor child. They were married in Boston August 11, 1914, and have since lived in Boston, Medford and Everett.

Willis L. Baker of Arlington charges that his wife, Mrs. Mary E. Baker of Springfield, deserted him at Medford on October 1, 1910. They were married in Everett December 4, 1907, and have since lived in Medford. Baker asks for the custody of a minor child.

AMERICAN FLIERS ARE TO FIGHT FOR POLAND

Paris, Aug. 27.—General Rozwadowski, chief of the Polish mission in Paris, today formally authorized Major C. E. Fauntleroy of Chicago and Captain M. C. Cooper of Jacksonville, Fla., to form a flying corps to fight with the Polish army. It will be known as the Kosciusko Escadrille and will correspond to the Lafayette Escadrille that fought with the French Army during the war.

In addition to Major Fauntleroy and Captain Cooper the following American pilots have enlisted: George M. Crawford of Wilmington, Del.; Kenneth Shrewsbury of Charleston, W. Va.; H. Clark of Tulsa, Okla., and C. Ar[illegible] of New York.

TUBERCULOSIS CLAIMS MORE LIVES THAN WAR

Tuberculosis claims more victims than war; whereas 67,882 Americans died as a result of the war, more than 200,000 at home died during the same period of "the white plague." This is the statement issued by the National Tuberculosis Association, which includes more than 1,500 local anti-tuberculosis leagues. This association, under the direction of Dr. Victor C. Vaughan, president, will direct the sale of Red Cross Christmas seals. It is estimated that $6,500,000 will be needed to carry out the program planned.

SEVEN AMERICAN FLIERS FINISH BIG AIR RACE

Mineola-Toronto Flights Are Resumed by American and Canadian Fliers

Roosevelt Field, Mineola, N. Y., Aug. 27.—Seven American airmen had completed the 1,042 miles in the New York-Toronto aerial derby today when the fliers again began taking to the air in America's greatest sky race.

Lieutenant B. N. Maynard and Lieutenant M. J. Plumb in de Havilland Four machines landed at Mineola, and Major Rudolph Schroeder in a [illegible] also landed at Toronto.

ANOTHER FLIER ENTERS RACE.

Lieutenant Robert H. Midkiff, who left Roosevelt field on Monday afternoon, arrived here from Toronto at 11:25 o'clock.

Captain A. R. Simonin, in a de Havilland Four, completed the round trip, reaching here from the Canadian city at 11:58. Lieutenant W. C. Brown finished the flight here at 11:50 o'clock. The airmen reported bad weather over the Catskill Mountains. G. S. Jones, who flew from Mineola to Toronto in an unofficial flight, arrived at Roosevelt field on his return journey at 12:31 o'clock. He will go back this afternoon officially.

He is using a Curtiss JN-4 plane. The machine of Lieutenant B. L. Maynard, who successfully completed the round trip flight late yesterday, has been renumbered and has been assigned to Lieutenant Charles L. Osborne, who will enter the contest. It is a de Havilland Four.

Lieutenant Wallace Young, in a JN 4 H machine, was the first flier to get away on the last leg of the flight. Lieutenant Young went up at 8:34 o'clock. He had arrived at Toronto at 3:55 yesterday afternoon. The second to leave was Lieutenant O. S. Palmers in a Curtiss machine. He took off at 8:35 o'clock.

The winners will not be known until all of the flights have been completed, however, owing to the fact that the point system is being used in keeping score. This is to give the users of the high speed and low speed types of planes an equal chance for the $10,000 prize and the trophies going with it.

Weather conditions were unfavorable for the third day's racing. It was chilly and foggy and there was a threat of rain in the air. Immediately after daybreak all was bustle and activity on the Roosevelt field with preparations to send off more aviators. A sharp lookout was kept meanwhile for the airmen on their way south from the control stations at Buffalo, Syracuse and Albany.

Fifteen airmen had finished one leg of the long international contest before the flights were resumed this morning and there were expectations that other noted airmen might come into the race.

COL. THAW MAY COMPETE.

Colonel William Thaw, famous American flyer, who fought with the Lafayette Escadrille in France, indicated he might enter if he could get a German Fokker to fly. Already two captured German planes have been entered. Some of the machines that were damaged by accidents have been returned to the starting point to re-enter the contest.

There was much speculation over the whereabouts of Sergeant Frank Coombs, the first of the flyers on the southern route to reach Mineola from Toronto. He had not been heard from since he left Albany yesterday on his return to the Canadian city.

American Aviators in Big Race Leave Albany on Last Leg of Flight

Albany, Aug. 27.—Participants in the New York-Toronto Derby on the last leg of their return flight to New York began arriving here from Syracuse early today. Captain Simonin, in a De Haviland Four, was the first to arrive at the local field, landing at 9:06, having made the distance in fifty-six minutes from Syracuse against stiff eastern winds.

He was closely followed by Lieutenant Milkiff and Lieutenant Jones in ships 44 and 79. Captain Simonian left for New York at 9:26, and Lieutenant Milkiff at 9:42.

W. C. S. Brown, in No. 24, arrived from Syracuse at 9:55 and left for New York at 10:29. Captain Cook, flying a German Fokker, who was here overnight, left for Syracuse at 10:14.

Six Fliers Land at Buffalo on Way to New York in Flight

Buffalo, Aug. 27.—Six aviators in the New York-Toronto flight landed at Buffalo early this morning. Roland Rohlfs, from Syracuse to Toronto, landed at 9:40, and Acosta, from Syracuse to Toronto, landed at 10:22. These fliers arrived at the Curtiss flying field on their way from Toronto to New York: Hartney, 9:18; Logan, 9:41; Colt, 9:29, and Chandler, 10:08.

The following aviators arrived from Syracuse on their way to Toronto this morning: Adams, 10:10; Kirkpatrick, 10:26; Rouiotte, 10:30; Coombs, 10:30; Hunsinger, 10:33.

Those arriving from Toronto on their way to New York were Taylor, 10:51, left at 11:03; Hartney, 9:18, left at 10:17; Brandt, 10:45, [illegible] left for Toronto at 10:17.

LENROOT PUTS IN BILL TO COMBINE RAILROADS

Washington, Aug. 27.—A single national system of railroads, privately owned, is provided in a bill introduced in the Senate today by Senator Lenroot of Wisconsin. Minimum earnings would be guaranteed by the government and management shared by the shippers, farmers, security owners, employes and the public under the provisions of the bill. Senator Lenroot said he believed that his plan would furnish protection for all interests concerned and would provide a means of economical and efficient transportation.

Chronic Jailbreaker Discourages Keeper Into Quitting

New Bedford, Aug. 27.—Stone walls do not a prison make; not for Joe Swartz, otherwise "Joe, the Left-Hander." Swartz forced his way to freedom from the county jail at Edgartown and is known to have made his way from Martha's Vineyard Island to the mainland aboard the Vineyard Haven steamer for New Bedford.

Usually when he escapes from jail—"usually" is the proper word—he is caught and locked up again before he has time to get very far away, but perhaps the theory that we live and learn may be applied to account for his increasing aptitude for compelling his keepers to resign.

The last time he got out, about a week ago, he endeavored to camouflage his appearance by the application of a coat of white paint that served only to make breathing difficult. And the paint trickled into his ears and made him darned uncomfortable until he was given a bath at the jail upon his return.

Joe was arrested at Oak Bluffs for burglary about a month ago, but after several days he escaped from the jail. The warden still believes he must have had an accomplice to assist him in his escape, for he pried the door of his cell with a crowbar, and the prison officials are certain he had no instrument of this nature concealed about his person when he was taken into custody.

He was apprehended at the steamboat wharf the following morning trying to book passage to New Bedford. Then he was taken to the county jail at Edgartown for more secure detention pending trial. High Sheriff Walter Renear gave the keeper, Enos Earl, to understand that an investigation would be ordered if Joe got away again. That night the prisoner disappeared.

No one but himself knows how he got out of his cell, for both the door and the window were locked when a turnkey came to give him his breakfast the following morning.

In order to obtain the money he needed to leave the island Joe broke into a grocery store. He was caught in the act, and the policeman who arrested him had no difficulty in penetrating his disguise.

Keeper Earl immediately tendered his resignation and Sheriff Renear accepted it.

Joe behaved himself for a week or so and then decamped again.

AERIAL PATROL OF BORDER IS DOUBLED

First Pursuit Group Is Ordered From Michigan to Kelly Field, Texas

By International News Service.

San Antonio, Tex., Aug. 27.—The aerial patrol of the Mexican border was doubled today with the announcement at army headquarters that the first pursuit group (four squadrons) now stationed at Selfridge Field, Mich., has been ordered to move at once to Kelly Field for permanent station.

Major Butler, commander at Kelly Field, said today that 1,000 men will arrive at Kelly Field within the next few weeks for station. There are about 600 men and 150 officers in the first pursuit group, when at full strength.

Six planes will be stationed hereafter at Eagle Pass. The 16th Aero Construction Squadron has been ordered from Laredo to construct the field. Announcement of opening of other new fields strung along the border is expected soon.

Mexican Bandit Rode Horse to Death in Flight, Matlack Reports

Marfa, Tex., Aug. 27.—American troopers rode so hard after the Mexican bandits that the horse of Luciardo Colanche, a noted border troublemaker, dropped dead under him. Colanche then hid in a barn and later made his escape on a more sturdy mule.

The foregoing was contained in an official report made to Colonel George T. Langhorne today by Captain Matlack, who conducted the ransom negotiations with Rentario's outlaws.

Major-General Dickman, commanding the Southern Department, telegraphed his congratulations to Major J. P. Yancey, who commanded the punitive expedition, and requested his personal thanks be conveyed to the 5th and 8th Cavalry troopers who participated in it. General Dickman characterized it as "an expedition successful in every way."

REPLY TO MEXICAN PROTEST FORWARDED

Washington, Aug. 27.—The reply of this government to Mexico's representations protesting the "invasion" of her territory by troops of the Eighth Cavalry has been sent, Secretary of State Lansing announced today. The Secretary did not indicate when the note or the original protest would be made public.

SUPPORT OF GOMPERS CHEERING TO ACTORS

New York, Aug. 27.—A quick reply from the strikebound theatrical managers to Samuel Gompers' endorsement of the Actors' Equity Association and the principles for which it is fighting is expected today. Up and down the Rialto the actors and their sympathizers are jubilant as a result of the American labor leader's statement that "Whatever power and influence there may be in the American Federation of Labor will be heartily accorded you." The membership of the Actors' Fidelity League, which is running in opposition to the Equity Association, has increased to 1,819.

FEDERAL LICENSING OF CORPORATIONS LAGS

Washington, Aug. 27.—Federal license control of the great corporations engaged in the basic industries of the country, recommended by President Wilson in his address to Congress on remedial legislation for prevailing high costs of living probably will not be settled by Congress in the immediate future. The Judiciary Committee has made no serious attempt to get such legislation under way. Chairman Volstead has had conferences on the subject with officials of the Department of Justice, but nothing concrete has resulted.

NEW RECRUITING OFFICES WILL BE OPENED

Stations in Outlying Districts to Help Handle Rush of Applicants

As a result of the rush of men to enlist in the American Expeditionary Forces, Major B. F. Shaw, chief of the Boston recruiting forces, announced today he would open a number of temporary sub-stations to handle applications in the outlying districts.

More than fifty veterans of the world war were on hand at the army recruiting station, No. 3 Tremont Row, today, eager to take advantage of the War Department's new ruling. This new order permits ex-service men to enlist for service in Europe for one year, while men with no army experience must take on for three years.

In addition to the other applications, a score of young men today presented themselves for European service, having been too young to enlist while the war was being fought.

Enlistments for the A. E. F. were discontinued at midnight July 5, and the recruiting officers have been forced to turn down many desirable recruits because they would take on for no other service. Some of these were men who had been in the service on this side, but who had been unable to go overseas.

The order which reopened recruiting for Europe, restricted applications to the infantry and signal corps. Major Shaw stated he believes today's enlistments will be greater than on any day since peacetime recruiting was re-established, March 12.

UNREST CAUSED BY FINANCIERS, SAYS FOSS

Candidate for Governor Declares Public Ownership Would End Evils

Blaming the high cost of living for the industrial unrest prevalent in Massachusetts, former Governor Eugene N. Foss at a rally held at the Victory [illegible] Stadium, today, pleaded for public ownership of the street railways and the railroads of the Commonwealth. He said, in part:

"The cure for this industrial unrest prevailing throughout the State, which affects every wage earner, and which affects the price of everything bought and sold—the cure for all of this unfortunate condition lies in taking over the public utilities, the rehabilitation of their credit and usefulness under state operation.

"Public ownership, in my judgment, will give the street railways and the railroads of this State the credit that will give the money and reasonable returns which may well give the wage earner adequate wages and give the public decent service.

"The people must take the control of these railroads out of the hands of speculative stock jobbers and put these railroads in the control of the State.

"Every railroad today in Massachusetts, steam and trolley, has been wrecked. Many of them are in bankruptcy today as a result of banker management—reorganized as often as it has been convenient to make the most money out of the public.

"Look at the spectacle of the Bay State Street Railway Company, recently reorganized at a cost to the people of $541,000 paid to lawyers and bankers of State street.

"The Boston Elevated, which has been under the complete domination and control of these same State street speculative interests for the last twenty-five years, is confessedly in such a condition that it cannot continue to do business without putting its hands into the State treasury every six months to make up any deficit that may exist."

Y. D. VETERAN FREED OF $18 THEFT CHARGE

Joseph Lee, who served with the Yankee Division, was found not guilty of the larceny of $18 from the State, in the Municipal Court. The State submitted that Lee's mother received $18 from the State treasurer after Lee had been discharged from the service.

Lee informed the court that he had been confined in a hospital and had not received his discharge papers until weeks after they had been made out. Meanwhile he enlisted in the navy. His mother believed him to have been in the service continually.

ASK LEGAL HOLIDAY ON ARMISTICE DAY

Governor Coolidge was yesterday asked to take steps to designate November 11—Armistice Day—as a holiday in celebration of the cessation of hostilities in Europe. The request was made by Leo J. Spillane, secretary of the Massachusetts organization of the American Legion, and other members of that order, who were accompanied in their visit to the Governor's office by former Lieutenant-Governor Louis A. Frothingham. The Governor took the matter under advisement.

"Anyone" Calls Save Time and Money

We know that many telephone toll calls can be satisfactorily completed if the call is made for anyone at a telephone address instead of for a particular person. If it is not absolutely necessary to talk with a particular person, one can transact one's business, in most instances, if communication is established with an office or residence.

If YOU can make your TOLL calls this way, the rate will be about 25 per cent less.

Quicker service will be obtained if you call the telephone number desired. If you do not know the number, the toll operator will get it for you.

FREEDOM OF IRELAND ONLY GUARANTEE OF PEACE, SAYS DE VALERA

IRISH PRESIDENT TO FLOAT $5,000,000 BOND ISSUE

New York, Aug. 27.—The climax of Ireland's gigantic and centuries-old struggle for right to rule herself is at hand. And the climax in the greatest fight in history of any nation seeking self rule will occur in the United States.

Dr. Eamon De Valera, President of the Irish Republic, has just made known to a representative of the Boston American that he is making ready for a tour of the United States in the interests of Irish freedom. President De Valera will revisit Boston and will speak there and in numerous cities and towns throughout New England.

Thousands upon thousands of persons who failed to see the President of the Republic of Ireland when he made a flying trip through New England a week after his appearance in this country last June, when he visited in Boston, Cambridge and Manchester, N. H., will soon have a chance to hear him in his impassioned appeal for a "square deal" for the long-oppressed Emerald Isle.

At no time in the history of Irish agitation has the cause of Irish freedom been presented in such a complete and forceful manner as it will be when the President of the Irish Republic makes his nation-wide tour.

Every city and town in the United States with a population of [illegible] or more will be visited by Dr. De Valera and his suite. On every hand he will be greeted by dignitaries of church and State.

The American representative also learned that the $5,000,000 bond issue for the cause of Irish freedom will be floated on the coming trip of President De Valera. This announcement will come as of particular interest to thousands of readers of the American who have been eager to know when the sale of bonds of the new Irish Republic will begin.

In making plans for the extensive tour of the President of the Irish Republic the American Commission on Irish Independence, of which Frank P. Walsh is chairman, is about to establish an office at No. 280 Broadway, Manhattan, and from this office the fight for freedom will be waged. President De Valera's tour of the United States will occupy three months.

If bets were in the issue it would be a safe bet to say that in the entire United States today there is not a man as confident of victory for the Irish cause as Dr. De Valera.

"I know that Ireland will soon enjoy that liberty and freedom which is justly hers," the President said. "Ireland's cause is a just and holy and a righteous cause, and so far as I have seen the American people have come to appreciate it as such."

Since President De Valera suddenly "bobbed up" in New York the last week of June, having eluded the watchful British authorities in his unexpected arrival in this country, changes have taken place in American sentiment towards the Irish movement in places where the Irish leader did not expect to find them. With the realization of this fact, the President will begin his American nation-wide tour feeling confident that all Americans, the people of all classes and creeds, will [illegible] as are the ones [illegible] from Ireland in its true light.

"U. S. AND FREE IRELAND."

It was emphasized by the President that the great majority of the [illegible] people [illegible] in sympathy and accord with the demands of the people of Ireland. "The demand of a people to choose a government of their own people," said the President in his suite in the Waldorf-Astoria, "is it not reasonable that a man should maintain and conduct his own home?" he asked. "What could be more [illegible] than the demand of a people to rule themselves? The American people as a free people cannot appreciate what it means to be a subject people as are the Irish people today.

"Through public demonstrations which are about to be held all over the United States I believe that we can show that the sympathy of the American people is with the Irish people, to demonstrate [illegible] for the enslaved nation of Ireland exists. As soon as this has been demonstrated I believe that the American people will be eager to demonstrate their sympathetic feeling for Ireland. America [illegible] to Ireland's [illegible] demand for a republic.

"By recognizing the Republic of Ireland the American people will do no more than stand for the principles on which this country entered the war—the democracy of peoples, the freedom of small nations. As soon as the Republic of the United States has recognized the Republic of Ireland, a Republic that exists in faith and in [illegible] other nations will recognize [illegible] nation whose fight for freedom is older than the United States.

"Recognition of the Republic of Ireland by the Republic of the United States would mean the freedom of Ireland and the freedom of [illegible] the [illegible] of a good principle.

"And the freedom of Ireland would be a greater guarantee of peace than any artificial treaties or covenants could possibly be."

So far as President De Valera can [illegible] in this country, his trip [illegible] Boston, Cambridge and Manchester, N. H., he is convinced of one thing, which is that the League of Nations, "Great Britain's Covenant," as he calls it, is strongly opposed in the United States. In the same connection he made this significant remark:

"The United States is surrounded by enemies. The next big war will undoubtedly involve jointly Great Britain and Japan and they will not be on the side of the United States. England and America are today the trade competitors of the world. England wants no competitor in trade. Look at your American history—not the kind of English-manufactured American history that is to be found in some of our school books—and you will see that it has always been the custom of England to take the greatest and richest commercial nation as an ally.

"Ireland is one of England's richest strongholds today. But Great Britain is never satisfied. Now she has begun the exploitation of Persia, her latest and richest 'find.' Just as England has exploited the resources of Ireland in the past, just as she has grabbed German Africa as a result of her 'victory' in the recent war (although she professedly entered the war for the preservation of small nations and not for the annexation of territory) now she goes into Persia to loot a vast and rich territory about three times as large as the German Empire was in 1914.

"When and where in American history can it be found that England 'befriended' the United States that she was not helping herself, looking out for number one? The people of America are being awakened more and more. They realize that England's secret or acknowledged alliances with Japan are not a wholesome thing for America. Let us not forget that America is bounded by Canada on the north and Mexico on the south. There is British propaganda in circulation today that Canada is almost part and parcel of the United States, but that is propaganda, and a great many people actually believe it."

Returning to the subject of his coming nation-wide tour, President De Valera said:

"I am fully confident that I will find the people throughout the country greatly in accord with Ireland's noble fight to gain her place in the family of nations. On my last trip I found everywhere I went people agreed with me that Great Britain has no claims on Ireland, although she has a strangle hold on Ireland.

"About 1,520,000 Irish voters at the last general election declared for an Irish Republic. Only 280,000 favored continued union with England. Then if a republic is not the will of the people of Ireland I would like to know what is the will of the people."

The President of the Irish Republic said he is willing at any time to give to the President or Congress any information desired about Ireland and her fight for freedom.

"I am convinced," he said, "that the American people will ultimately demand that the President listen to the cry of Cathleen-ni-Houlihan."

The first of three interviews with Frank P. Walsh will appear in the Boston American tomorrow.

DE VALERA, WHO ASKS FOR "SQUARE DEAL" FOR ERIN

President De Valera is soon to make tour of the United States to float the $5,000,000 bond issue forhe cause of Irish Freedom.

Gompers Came Back To Help Labor, He Declares

New York, Aug. 27.—The alarming industrial situation in the United States caused Samuel Gompers, president of the American Federation of Labor, who arrived here aboard the U. S. S. George Washington, to curtail his European trip and return to this country at once.

"I will frankly admit," he said, "that I received dispatches from Washington which in my judgment required that I return immediately.

"I didn't come home to interfere with the progress of labor. I came to help. If the employers have not learned that the time is past when they are lords and masters of all they survey, this may be a good time to teach them a lesson. Surely the men and women of America have a right to a voice as to the terms under which they will go to work."

SINN FEIN PUTS BOND ISSUE ON MARKET

London, Aug. 27.—The Sinn Fein bond issue has been launched in Ireland.

The prospectus says the amount of the issue will be one million dollars, reckoning the normal value of the dollar at four shillings. It will bear interest at 5 per cent. The proceeds of the loan will be used for the propagation of the Irish cause throughout the world, establishing a consular service, promoting Irish trade and commerce and fostering Irish industries.

Certificates will be issued in denominations of [illegible]. Subscriptions are payable 25 per cent accompanying the application, 25 per cent on October 1 and 25 per cent on December 1.

The first issue bears the name of Eamon De Valera, President, and Michael Collins, Finance Minister of the Irish Republic.

In anticipation of the loan money has been rolling in for some time and the Sinn Feiners are confident the loan will be a success.

Officers of the Sinn Fein government have been holding secret sessions in Dublin. Consuls appointed to New York and other places have not been named, because of the fact that the consuls leaving the country have to evade the police.

SHOE FIRM TO BUILD $30,000 RESTAURANT

Brockton, Aug. 27.—The largest restaurant in the Southeastern part of the State will be constructed by the W. L. Douglas Shoe Company, for the benefit of the employes and will be connected with the main factories with tunnels.

The building will be of brick, two stories high and will cost about $30,000. Lunches will be sold to the workers at cost and the restaurants at present conducted by private individuals will be eliminated.

VANDAL SPRINKLED ACID ON $2,000 HOTEL RUGS

Pittsfield, Aug. 27.—Six oriental rugs valued at $2,000, at the Maplewood Hotel, have been ruined by a powerful acid or lye, which has eaten large holes through them.

The police have been working for a week on the theory the case is one of spite. The Maplewood is a Summer resort hotel owned and conducted for thirty-nine years by Arthur W. Plumb.

IRELAND RULED BY ULSTER, SAYS LOGUE

Cardinal States Artifice Was Used to Keep U. S. Ships From Queenstown

Queenstown, Aug. 27.—Cardinal Logue, primate of all Ireland, speaking here declared Ireland is governed in the interest of a small handful of people in the northwest corner of the island.

"This is at the root of all the trouble we have had in Ireland," the cardinal added. "If the Irish people were treated honestly and openly and had fair play they would have none of the troubles in this country that they have at present."

Referring to what he described as the artifices which had been used some years ago to prevent American ships from calling at Queenstown, the cardinal declared a few Liverpool merchants influenced the steamship owners to declare Queenstown harbor unsafe, although there has been no record of any shipwreck inside the harbor.

The cardinal asked the people of Ireland to bear military rule quietly and not to disgrace the country by acts of violence.

"Anyone who commits a crime," he said, "shows himself a greater enemy of Ireland than Lloyd George, Bonar Law or Carson. I hope some statesmen will arise who will give Ireland her just rights by placing the destinies of the people in their own hands, leaving them masters of their own finances and government."

IRISH CHEER U. S. BOAT FLYING SINN FEIN FLAG

Queenstown, Aug. 27.—The American steamer Ashbourne, bound for Rotterdam, passed Queenstown flying the Sinn Fein flag with the American flag at the stern.

The crew of the Ashbourne cheered and waved small Sinn Fein flags and the whistles tooted a greeting to which the onlookers on shore answered with cheers and shouts.

BRITISH DRIVE REDS OUT OF ODESSA

Russian City Captured from Bolshevists Under Cover of Warship Bombardment

London, Aug. 27.—The Russian wireless reports that thirty British warships bombarded Odessa, landed troops and occupied the city, the Bolshevists withdrawing toward Yalta.

The Admiralty says there was no bombardment, but that the guns of the fleet covered the landing of the anti-Bolshevist forces.

NEAL IN FAVOR OF ZONE PLAN FOR "L"

Would Fix 6-Cent Fare for Ride of Three Miles

President J. Henry Neal of the Boston Elevated, advocated a six-cent fare in a zone of three miles from the centre of the city at the hearing before the special commission appointed to investigate traction conditions in the State.

OPPOSED TO 10 CENT FARE.

"Fare should not be ten cents," he said. "By establishing a six and an eight-cent ride an average of seven cents could be secured. The present charges for subway rentals, taxes and paving should be eliminated. Then, if a deficit should arise, it could be met by taxation."

Personal investigation in European cities [illegible] him, he said, that the cheap zone fares prevailing there cannot be duplicated in Boston because of the length of rides. "They have two and three-cent fares across the water all right," continued Mr. Neal, "but the distances are usually short."

The problem of getting along with five-cent fare probably has been with the Elevated for the past nineteen years, he said. The building of the subways placed a burden upon the road that grew heavier as years passed on. Even had the world war never occurred the condition of the road would have been such that a fare higher than five cents would have become necessary.

BLAMES BOARD FOR TROUBLES.

Discussing public ownership with Senator Walsh of Boston, President Neal remarked that even if put into effect approximately [illegible] would be saved through the securing of lower rates of interest on borrowed money, but that amount would be lost to the State in taxation.

Mr. Neal attributed some of the road's financial difficulties to the fixing of the fare by a public commission. He believed that while public supervision was necessary the [illegible] of the company to fix rates [illegible] by the business [illegible] to go with [illegible].

Replying to a question from Senator Walsh, Mr. Neal said he desired to see many of the people now walking return to the trolleys. Some of them he had no sympathy for.

"I see no reason why a man whose wages have increased 100 per cent during the past year should not be willing to pay 10 cents for a ride," he said. "Our expenses have increased 100 per cent. This has been largely through labor, for not only have we increased the wages of our employes, but we have helped to pay for the increase granted coal workers and other employes through increased cost for materials."

CLEVELAND STANDARD TIRE MAKING HIT IN BOSTON

Since the time about four months ago that the well known automobile accessory and electric fixture house of Farley & MacNeill were granted the exclusive Boston agency for Cleveland Standard Tires they have sold hundreds of these exceptionally different casings.

The principal reason that Farley & MacNeill were able to sell such a great number of these tires in so short a time was no doubt due to the fact that the firm had such absolute confidence in the merit of Cleveland Standard Tires that they sold them on their "pay-as-you-ride-plan—20 per cent. down, balance in easy weekly or monthly payments to suit the purchaser's convenience.

Fisk Tires Still Going After 18,000 Miles of Heavy Work

Proof of the uniformly good service obtainable these days from standard makes of automobile tires is contained in record of performance kept by the commissioners of Coweta county, Georgia.

In an Overland car, the Superintendent of County Works drove over 18,000 miles before a single tire was changed on the set of Fisk Tires with which the car was equipped. After that many more miles were checked off on the speedometer on three of the four.

This record was made in the face of difficult road conditions, and oftentimes with a load of five to ten workmen.

This performance proved so satisfactory to the commissioners that Clerk of the Board T. G. Farmer has since ordered more Fisks for other cars.

WARLIKE TEST GIVEN NEW OVERLAND

Made Official Scout Car in Army Transport Coast-to-Coast Experimental Run

"The Willys-Overland Company of Toledo has this season introduced new methods for testing automobiles, which are a direct development of war experience," says Weldon McKone of the Connell & McKone Company, the distributors of Willys-Overland products.

"Believing that the modern motor car must successfully meet the most [illegible] conditions, the Willys-Overland Company planned and carried out the idea of subjecting the new light weight car the company has been developing for two years, and which it is understood, will soon be on the market, to tests which would parallel the rough and ready use motor cars in the war zone daily received.

GRUELING ROAD TESTS.

"For these tests unusual breaking machines have been rigged up and used in the factory, and the cars have then been sent into rough, untraveled country for most gruelling road performance.

"In the preliminary tests, the new Overland car showed stamina and riding qualities so remarkable that the car was selected as the official scout car in the first trans-continental test trip of the United States Motors Transport Corps, which started at Washington, D. C., on July 7, and is expected to arrive about September 7 in San Francisco. The route being followed by the Motor Transport Corps is the Lincoln Highway.

COAST-TO-COAST TRIP.

"This trans-continental trip has been undertaken to establish and demonstrate the possibilities of the motor vehicle as a factor in coast-to-coast transportation. With the many trucks participating in this convoy are three of the new light Overland cars, which will be put on the market this season by the Willys-Overland Company.

The Overland Company makes no disclosure as to price or date of the new car, except to say the car will be moderate in price and will soon be delivered to dealers.

TENT TO HOUSE TOURING PARTY, AUTO AND ALL

Milford, Aug. 27.—Mr. and Mrs. Howard F. Hilton of this town, recently married, accompanied by the latter's sister and her husband, have left for a tour of the West by auto, with California as the objective point. The party will be away about five months. They will stop in many cities and plan to take in all the sights.

In the automobile is carried a huge tent which, when erected, will house the car and provide sleeping and cooking quarters for the young people.

APPEAL FOR FUNDS TO BUY CHAPLAIN AUTO

An urgent appeal for funds is being made by the Boston Auxiliary to the American McAll Association, to finance work in the devastated sections of Lille, France. The present needs of the association mission in Lille are for a wounded chaplain who is still serving his people, and a motion picture outfit to combat the effect of cheap and sensational "movies" in the French cities. Checks should be made payable to Mrs. Helen Craig, treasurer, at No. 69 Mt. Vernon street.

Take Old Tires in Trade

The Boston Auto Tire Exchange will take your old tires as part payment for new ones. This novel way of equipping your machine with new tires is becoming very popular.

1920 MODELS TO BE SHOWN AT BOSTON FAIR

Special Exhibit to Be Made at Readville; Dealers Eager to Take Part

Chester I. Campbell, manager of the Boston Automobile Show in Mechanics Building, will have charge of the motor car and accessory exhibits at the Boston Fair, Readville Park, September 25, 26 and 27. As many of of the 1920 models will be on the market at that time, particularly the new types of closed cars, Mr. Campbell will make every effort to have a representative exhibition of them for the Boston Fair.

Many Boston business men are behind the project to make the Boston Fair one worthy of Massachusetts. In addition to an automobile show there will be a horse show in which $5,000 will be offered in prizes, a cattle show, a dog show, trotting meet, pony polo and running races on the flat and other features.

"From the Boston dealers I have the assurance that they will exhibit their very latest models and I am quite sure that the automobile show will be of the standard set for the other departments of the show," says Mr. Campbell. "Even at this early date it looks as if it is going to be a problem to provide space for all that want to exhibit."

ASK MR. FIXIT

Mr. Fixit—I have a Premier car and my clutch makes a [illegible] noise that is very annoying. Is there anything I can do to overcome this? J. A. L., Weymouth.

Tighten your clutch pedal linkage until there is no play, so that the clutch thrust collar just rubs, but not enough for wear. This will stop that rattle which you get when your foot is off the pedal.

Dear Mr. Fixit—I have a Stutz car which has been run 10,000 miles, but with the present grade of gasoline I find that it carbonizes quickly. I have adjusted my carburetor for a very thin mixture and sometimes have trouble in starting the car when it is cold. I don't mind this, however, but would like to know what I can do to help stop this carbonization. Your advice will be appreciated. J. W., Boston.

My suggestion would be to put on one of the numerous devices which will inject water into the cylinders with the mixture. This will go a long ways towards keeping your cylinders and piston heads free from carbon. This water goes into the cylinders and takes the form of steam at each explosion, which not only cuts the carbon, if any is already there, but keeps it from forming afterwards.

Mr. Fixit—I have a Ford car, and every time I start it in the morning it creeps ahead. I have the clutch thrown out with the brake lever, but it does no good. I do not notice this so much after it gets warmed up. What is the trouble? L. W., Malden.

Your high speed clutch or first speed band is tight and the oil in the transmission case is thicker when cold, and all this makes your gears engage when you crank the motor up. Try and take up on your emergency brake rods so that the brakes will hold the car. I would not loosen my gear bands unless they are very tight. You can tell how it acts in first gear. Your high speed clutch fingers will adjust themselves with a little wear if they are too tight.

Mr. Fixit: I have just had my Overland car overhauled, new piston rings and valves ground, and after running it for about two weeks it started to slow up every once in a while on account of dirt in the carburetor. I took it apart and found lots of dirt in the strainer and jets. * * * It seems to miss when pulling under a load, and all I can get is about ten miles on a gallon. * * * The car is a model 75B and has a Tillotson carburetor, model 77. I had new contact points put in on the distributor, but it did no good. It runs idle all right, but when you feed it gas or it is pulling it seems to miss. Anything you can tell me about this trouble will be appreciated. B. G. C., Wakefield, R. F. D.

It looks as if there might still be dirt in your gas line somewhere or in the bottom of your gasoline tank itself. It is some job to take the tank off to clean, to be sure that you have a proper adjustment on your carburetor before you lay it to dirt altogether. Your valves may be adjusted too close to the tappets so that they do not seat properly when the car is warmed up. You ought to be able to pass a business card between the tappet and the valve stem when the motor is cold. Your poor mileage seems to indicate carburetor trouble due to improper adjustment.

Mr. Fixit—My Ford stops very suddenly with a grinding sound when I apply the foot brake. Is this all Ford, and is there any way to stop the noise and make it less harsh in action, but still effective? L. P. R., Roxbury.

Your foot brake will make the noise you speak of and act harshly, but it is very effective. You can put cork inserts on the brake band and also on your first speed and reverse gear and this will make it very quiet and less harsh, but still effective.

Mr. Fixit: Please advise me how I can make the front cylinder on my Ford fire. I started with the magneto, then the timer, the spark plugs and all wiring and connections, and found them O. K. Have changed the plugs, and tried new ones; have tried all the coil units differently without any spark at the front plug. Any good coil unit that I put at the extreme right of the coil box doesn't seem to vibrate or spark, no matter how adjusted. The timer is practically new. The valves have been ground and the compression is fine. C. S. F., Norwich Town, Ct.

Your statements show that the trouble is all in the electrical end from the coil to the timer or plug. Look at the little points in the coil box that make the connection from the unit. These may be bent and thus do not form a connection. Look at the binding post on the coil. The porcelain may be cracked or connection loose, although we are assuming you have looked after this. Are you sure there is no broken wire to this cylinder? Look at the wires on your distributor. Possibly the insulation may have become chafed so that it shorts. It is a case of wiring somewhere and you will have to go all over it again, possibly using absolutely new wire on this one cylinder connection.

Frigid Winds Kill Creatures from Indian Wilds

The hardships of a long ocean voyage, capped by a session of extremely cold weather off the Grand Banks, proved too much for a large number of the birds, monkeys and other creatures brought from Calcutta, India, aboard the Bucknall line steamship Swazi, which is docked at Mystic wharf.

Nearly 5,000 birds aboard ship burst into a chorus of song as the ship ended the long voyage that cost the lives of 300 of their feathered mates. Fifty of the 600 monkeys shipped on the Swazi, gave up the ghost during the cold wave off the Grand Banks. A snake and a tiger cub also left their mates to mourn.

ST. PAUL'S IS CENTURY OLD NEXT WEEK

Special Service Will Commemorate Laying of Cornerstone 100 Years Ago

The 100th anniversary of the laying of the cornerstone of St. Paul's Cathedral will be celebrated Thursday, September 4. At 8 and 11 o'clock in the morning holy communion will be received and at 12:10 at noon Dean Rousmaniere will give an address.

The organization of the church was the result of a movement on the part of men of wealth and prominence in the community to build a costly and impressive church building. On the building committee were such men as David Sears, William Shimmin and Daniel Webster, who for many years owned and occupied pew number twenty-three of the present building.

CHURCH COST $83,000.

A year after the corner-stone was laid, on June 30, 1820, the church was consecrated by Bishop Griswold, assisted by Bishop Brownell of Connecticut. The parish was formed principally out of Trinity Church.

The building was designed by Captain Alexander Parris, assisted by Solomon Willard, the architect of Bunker Hill monument. The Ionic capitals were carved by Willard. The building complete cost $83,000, a large sum in those days of simplicity in church architecture and embellishment.

"This church," said the Rev. Phillips Brooks in one of his writings, "made a notable and permanent addition to the power of Episcopacy in the city. Its Grecian temple seemed, to the men who built it, to be a triumph of architectural beauty and of fitness for the church's service."

DR. JARVIS FIRST RECTOR.

In St. Paul's tombs, in the vaults beneath the church, are interred many prominent men. The remains of General Warren were deposited in a vault there for a time until their removal in 1855 to the family vault in the Forest Hills Cemetery, Roxbury. In another, in his family vault, Prescott, the historian, is interred. In 1878 interments there ceased.

St. Paul's first rector was the Rev. Samuel F. Jarvis, D. D. Dean Rousmaniere, the present rector, took over the parish in 1909.

Women of the A. O. H. Oppose League of Nations

Worcester, Aug. 27.—The League of Nations was opposed in resolutions passed by members of the Massachusetts Ladies' Auxiliary, of the A. O. H., at the closing session of their biennial convention and a protest was also entered against the Peace Treaty in its present draft. The resolutions also protested against the adoption of the Smith-Towner bill and favored more interest in Trinity College in Washington, affiliation with the Catholic Federation and the Friends of Irish Freedom and the purchase of bonds of the New Irish Republic.

Mrs. Mary Martin Silk of Spencer was elected president.

DERF
360 POINT
SPARK PLUGS
The Spark Plug That Saves Gasoline
HERE'S something new, Mr. Motorist. A spark plug that not only explodes your gas, but actually gives you more miles per gallon and added power to boot.
The Derf plug is so constructed that the spark is an unbroken triangle of fire—the hottest spark that ever jumped across the bottom of a spark plug. This necessitates a leaner mixture than can be used with any other plug.
Put a Derf in every cylinder, then thin your mixture down, or if you can't reduce your carburetor, give it all the air it will take. You'll feel a new kick to your motor; have more power, and go further on a gallon of gas than you ever did before.
We don't ask you to accept this on faith. Actual tests made by the Automobile Club of America and the Motor Truck Club of America proved that Derf Plugs make a definite gasoline saving of from twenty-five to thirty-four per cent. Get a complete set of Derf Plugs today and be convinced. Four plugs $6.20. Six plugs $9.30. At all dealers.
We guarantee less gas—more power, and reduced carbonization—AND YOU CAN PROVE IT

A DISCOVERY THAT BENEFITS MANKIND

Two discoveries have added greatly to human welfare.

In 1835 Newton originated the vacuum process for condensing milk with cane sugar to a semi-liquid form.

In 1883 Horlick at Racine, Wis., discovered how to reduce milk to a dry powder form with extract of malted grains, without cane sugar.

This product HORLICK named Malted Milk. (Name since copied by others.) Its nutritive value, digestibility and ease of preparation (by simply stirring in water) and the fact that it keeps in any climate, has proved of much value to mankind as an ideal food-drink from infancy to old age.

EATON'S SONS IN NEW FIGHT ON HIS WIDOW

Seek to Enjoin Further Court Proceedings in Will Contest

The three sons of the late Charles S. Eaton, founder of Thompson's Spa, brought their father's million-dollar estate into the courts again today at Salem in a renewed effort to prevent their stepmother, Mrs. Ella F. Bartlett Eaton, now at Pasadena, Cal., from making a contest of the will.

A bill in equity was filed in the Essex Superior Civil Court today by counsel for Ezra and Malcolm H. Eaton of Marblehead and Charles F. Eaton of Brookline, as executors of the will, against their stepmother.

The sons asked that the Supreme Judicial Court enjoin all further court proceedings in the case on the ground that the Supreme Court had already adjudicated all pending issues.

Judge Pierce ordered a hearing on the petition at 9.30 o'clock Friday morning in Boston.

BOY CONFESSES TO SECURING $1,750 LOOT

Quincy Police Believe Prisoner Is Member of Band of Burglars

Quincy police believe they have broken up a gang of burglars and "fences" responsible for a long list of breaks in that city and Braintree by the arrest of nineteen-year-old William H. Thompson and three alleged accomplices.

Thompson, whose home is on Beach [illegible], East Braintree, pleaded guilty in Quincy District Court today to [illegible] breaks in which he obtained $1,750 in loot.

With Thompson in court were John Palgren of Main street, Quincy, and Max Levy of Bigelow street, Quincy. Palgren pleaded guilty to receiving the goods stolen by the East Braintree boy and was fined $200 by Judge Avery. Levy's case, on a similar complaint, was continued.

The identity of the third man arrested was not disclosed today, as the police were still searching his house and seeking through him to locate others of the gang.

Thompson admitted three breaks into the auto repair shop of F. Scannell & Son, Quincy, in which he obtained automobile accessories worth [illegible]. He also admitted robbing the tailoring establishment of Orlando Page in Quincy and stealing clothes worth $750.

These breaks extended through July and August.

He was arrested as a suspicious character in the woods on the outskirts of Quincy by Patrolman Thomas Curtin, an ex-service man.

REVERE MAN INJURED IN AUTO ACCIDENT

Following a head-on collision between two automobiles George Weinberg, No. 71 Pearl street, Revere, was reported resting comfortably today at the Newton Hospital. An X-ray examination revealed that his injuries were not grave.

The accident happened at Commonwealth avenue and Dix lane, Newton, when Weinberg's car collided with a car owned by Sarah R. White, No. 24 Humboldt avenue, Roxbury. Charles White was driving. Both cars were totally wrecked.

STACY AUTOPSY FINDINGS CAUSE NEW ACTION

Evidence Points to Startling Disclosures in Death of Vermont Artist

Burlington, Vt., Aug. 27.—Following an autopsy on the body of William [illegible] Stacy, the aged and wealthy artist who was found dying of three bullet wounds at his home here, unusual activity was manifest today on the part of State officials and the local police.

While absolute secrecy is being observed by the authorities as to the findings at the autopsy, it is believed that the evidence points to one of the most sensational murder cases in the history of the State.

The autopsy was performed by Dr. Charles F. Whitney, State expert, and attended by States Attorney Allen Martin and Dr. C. A. Ravey, the surgeon.

While the case was at first believed to be one of suicide, later developments have generally dispelled that idea. Mrs. Electa Roberts, housekeeper at the Stacy home, declared that she believed Mr. Stacy had been shot by a burglar and his body placed in a position which should lead to the theory of suicide.

SAYS BODY WAS PLACED.

Mrs. Roberts issued a statement in which she contradicted many of the various stories attributed to her.

She says that the right arm of the victim was across his chest when she found the body, instead of by his side, the position the police found him later.

"The shots came in rapid succession, much faster than Mr. Stacy could have fired them, in his feeble condition," said the housekeeper. "He had been placed in the position I found him. He was too feeble to have placed himself in such a position, and his fingers were so stiff with rheumatism that he could not have held a pistol."

WALKED TO HIS DEATH.

Further light was thrown on the mystery of the piled up silverware when Mrs. Roberts found two articles of doubtful value that had been discarded and thrown back on the sideboard.

"There is no question in my mind but that Mr. Stacy was murdered," declared the housekeeper. "He took his cane from the rack in the hall to defend himself when he heard someone in the dining room and walked to his death, a feeble, defenceless old man."

Miss Adeline La Favorite, the niece, is a resident of Norton, Mass.

BELA KUN SAYS WORLD TO BE BOLSHEVIK

Movements of Ex-Dictator of Hungary Are Kept Secret by His Captors

(Exclusive Cable to Universal Service, from London Daily Express.)

London, Aug. [illegible]—The movements of Bela Kun, who recently was removed from the Thyala Valley to a little village a few miles distant, are surrounded with the greatest secrecy. The former Hungarian dictator is more inaccessible than Kaiser Wilhelm at Amerongen. He is strongly guarded, day and night, by soldiers with bayonets.

A police official who recently visited Kun on business says he is spending his time in the translation of Russian works into Hungarian. At times he bursts into fits of uncontrollable weeping and he has been heard to remark:

"I shall not live to see Bolshevism established throughout the world, but my grandson will."

In conversation he has stated that he was aghast at the reign of terror in Budapest, but was powerless to restrain "Lenine's boys." They got out of hand, he said, and threatened to [illegible] if hindered in any way. When he asked to be permitted to correspond with Lenine and Trotzky he was refused.

Our informant did not know what was to be the ultimate fate of Bela Kun, but said there was no intention of giving him up to the Hungarians who are crying for his blood.

ITALIAN GUESTS ON TOUR OF CAPE ANN

Visit Gloucester and Are Entertained at Essex County Club and by Mrs. Lancashire

This is one of the gala days in the festivities in honor of the visit to Boston of the Italian dreadnought Conte di Cavour.

A tour of Cape Ann in automobiles marked the day's celebration, while tonight will be given to a celebration such as the North End has not seen for years.

The officers were driven by members of the Red Cross Motor Corps on a tour of Cape Ann, visiting all the points of interest, including the port of Gloucester, famous for its sea captains. They were entertained at luncheon at the Essex County Club and at tea by Mrs. Lancashire at her residence at Manchester-by-the-Sea.

The big jollification for the crew takes place this evening, when a score of bands will head a parade of the visiting sailors of the Cavour through the streets of the North End to North End Park. The visiting sailors will be transported across the harbor aboard the city steamer Monitor. Saverio Romano and the Italian committee have prepared an elaborate program.

Economic aid was promised to Italy by several speakers at the luncheon given by the city of Boston to Admiral Ugo Conz and the officers of the battleship Conte di Cavour at the Copley-Plaza. Governor Calvin Coolidge, Acting Mayor Ford and Professor Roscoe Thayer all laid particular stress on this in their addresses.

Acting Mayor Ford presided at the luncheon, which was attended by members of the City Council, Admiral Dunn of the First Naval District, General Edwards, both prominent in national, State and city affairs, and a number of prominent society men and women.

ITALIANS SLAIN BY ORDER OF OFFICERS

Army Cruelties Led to Disaster at Caporetto and Downfall of General Cadorna

[illegible] Aug. 27.—A feeling of painful astonishment is pervading Italy [illegible] investigation against General Cadorna, just concluded, has [illegible] facts about the conduct of the war.

[illegible] how many Italians [illegible] summarily [illegible] the animosity of a simple [illegible] commander. The [illegible] cases has just come [illegible]. Early in the war, it appears, the Italian soldier was treated not as a human being and a son of Italy valiantly defending the country, but with extreme cruelty.

The Caporetto disaster, when the Austrians, reinforced by German troops, penetrated into Italian territory as far as the Piave, appears to have been due to nothing else than the natural sequence of the fierce and inhuman treatment of the troops by superior officers. Men were sent to hard labor for life for a simple lapse in routine work. Men were even shot without court-martial in order to strike terror in the heart of the troops and thus obtain abject obedience.

MILITARY POLICE ACTIVE.

The discipline was [illegible] enforced by numberless military police, who camped behind the lines of regular troops. General Cadorna's orders of the day to the generals under him appear to have given subordinates power of life and death over soldiers.

Some of the most brutal officers, it appears, were commended to commit excesses by the commander-in-chief. General Graziani, accused by the dismissed men of terrorism, says that he was forced to adopt such methods in order to uphold discipline. He himself describes the shooting of one man on the retreat from Caporetto.

"I was traveling in my automobile along the road to Caporetto, and near where I could see nothing but retreating troops," he says. "Officers and men were marching on foot and on every kind of vehicle toward the rear. I came up with a whole battery of seventy-five guns which still retained a semblance of order. I ordered its officers to rearrange their men and to make them march before me in reviewing formation. I stood in my automobile and watched.

"Suddenly I saw one man in the ranks looking at me with a cigar in his mouth.

ORDERED MAN SHOT.

"I jumped from the car and beat him severely with my cane. Then I got the military police to grab him, stand him against the next wall and shoot him immediately.

"The whole thing occupied just over three minutes. As soon as the man collapsed I ordered the battery to move on and I finished reviewing it. Then I called the commander and asked the man's name. I felt it was my duty to make an example for the others."

General [illegible] of Savoy, a cousin of the King, sent out the following order of the day:

"With rage and horror I have heard that in some sections there has been a great deal of disregard to discipline. I consider this an act of treason, therefore I have ordered the guilty units decimated whether the victims be guilty or not. This I will do as often as necessary, for we have a sacred duty toward the country, and I shall not stop at any measure, no matter how grave."

Fresh accusations are coming out day by day from returning soldiers now free to speak for the first time.

MANY SHOT IN BACK.

Hundreds of sentences of death, chiefly by shooting in the back, were, it is now revealed, delivered in a few minutes by General Graziani, and the roads were "busy" all day long with a never ending line of men summarily sentenced and immediately executed.

Professor G. M. Ferrari of the University of Bologna states in a letter to the press that his students just returned who served as officers of various rank throughout the war, have spontaneously expressed to him their sorrow and revolt at the cruelty wherewith the soldiers were treated.

The official report of the investigation states that the Caporetto disaster was due in part to "the bad treatment soldiers received at the hands of several general officers."

The report ends charging General Cadorna with having "arbitrarily discharged many capable superior officers and replaced them with others less capable," with having "wasted the moral and physical energy of the troops," with having frequently "countenanced useless sacrifices of lives," and with having "too often disregarded the legal procedure of the court martials."

WILL ARREST 15 OFFICIALS OF BREWERIES

Federal Prosecutor Continues Drive Against Liquor Interests in Illinois

Chicago, Aug. 27.—More arrests, including officials of large breweries, are looked for today in the drive of United States District Attorney Clyne on the liquor business, which, he charges, is thriving here despite the war-time prohibition laws. The liquor interests have laid plans to fight the efforts of the United States District Attorney to stop the traffic.

They began their battle with a petition for an injunction asking that Zion City officials be restrained from interfering with the removal of nineteen trucks which were held there en route from Milwaukee with cargoes of beer.

The liquor interests, when presenting their petition in the United States District Court, let it be known that they intended making this a test case of the search and seizure law of the State.

Evidence has been obtained by Clyne, it is declared, showing that real beer is being manufactured in Illinois and the arrest of 15 big brewery officials is expected.

Jim McCarthy [illegible] the young man who [illegible] Johnny Wilson is the [illegible] middleweight in New England [illegible] the world might know [illegible] the pugilistic [illegible] middleweight [illegible] the South Boston man [illegible] with the American today to [illegible] bet that Jack (Young) [illegible] can beat Wilson.

"As [illegible] Larry Conley [illegible] Cleveland [illegible] and that the weight [illegible] ringside," said McCarthy. "I don't intend to have Ahearn [illegible] again and then [illegible] a knockout if I can [illegible]."

[illegible] fans will agree with [illegible] Ahearn made W[illegible] at the Fenway [illegible]. He outpointed him three [illegible] would have with the [illegible] a wide margin if [illegible] blows.

[illegible] said [illegible] for him [illegible] about as much [illegible] another mixup with [illegible] a gallery [illegible].

[illegible] McCarthy called at the American [illegible] with him [illegible] on Boylston street.

"[illegible] a new [illegible] Ahearn," said McCarthy.

[illegible] Young Kloby, will oppose [illegible] of twelve rounds at the [illegible] Doyle [illegible] prevent him from landing [illegible] with the Y. D. champion. [illegible] however, is the type of fighter who is liable to upset the dope at any time.

The [illegible] of eight rounds, which will [illegible] between Willie Roberts [illegible] should also furnish [illegible].

At Lynn [illegible] night Walter Butler, Revere [illegible], and [illegible] of Jamaica Plain will clash in a [illegible] bout. But [illegible] Lynn [illegible] will dispose of Duffy. The latter recently staged a sparkling [illegible] and won over Paddy [illegible].

Jack [illegible] Butler's manager, believes Butler is entitled to a whirl with Kloby. Said [illegible]: "I don't know [illegible] off claiming the New England welterweight championship. He never made lower than [illegible] pounds [illegible] of the contests [illegible] or Butler. Butler [illegible] was always below [illegible] a better claim to the [illegible] I think Butler's [illegible] would enable him to [illegible] champion."

Pennsylvania Archer Leader in First Day's Meet

By the remarkable score of 1[illegible] hits to 1,147 points, Dr. R. P. Elmer of Wayne, Pa., won the first event of the National Archery Association tournament at [illegible] Field. Dr. Elmer won both medals of the [illegible] round, the American [illegible] a new [illegible] 120 hits in [illegible] points.

Miss Dorothy Smith of New York was the winner of the Women's Columbia round. Her score was [illegible] points. This is the first tournament Miss Smith has ever [illegible].

MADONNA AND CARMAN IN SPECIAL MATCH RACE

Vincent Madonna, the Italian title holder, will have a chance to show his countrymen that [illegible] good a champion he is at the Revere cycle track tonight when he meets Clarence Carman, the American champion in a special match race behind the motors. A delegation of sailors from the Italian battleship [illegible] have secured reservations and Madonna will not be lacking for an extra cheering section.

Carman has [illegible] the Italian title holder's rival for [illegible] and to date the pair are about even. [illegible] race [illegible] Madonna in [illegible] match race last week, but the latter showed up in real championship form in the Golden Wheel race, winning it in rather easy style while Carman was third.

The season is nearing an end and Carman is anxious to win again, which is the big reason for the race tonight, which will be run in heats.

The regular card of professional and amateur events will make up the balance of the program.

ROWING REGATTA AT LYNN ON SATURDAY

Lynn will have its second water carnival of the season Saturday afternoon when the West Lynn and [illegible] meet in a dual regatta on Lynn harbor.

The senior eight-oared supremacy in the city was settled in July when the West Lynn crew rowed to an easy victory over its ancient rival along the Nahant-to-Lynn course. The meeting this week will settle the all around city supremacy, when the clubs clash in a program [illegible] sculling and [illegible] events.

AN OPEN LETTER ON THE POLICE STRIKE!

To Edwin U. Curtis, Police Commissioner:

Your long and varied practical experience has made you familiar with industrial conditions. But are you familiar with the causes of present-day industrial conditions? There is a cause even for the most radical of movements. When those in power remove the cause, the movement ends. Boston policemen are subject to the high cost of living, and the other conditions making for unhappiness. They are, like all of us, entitled to the right to happiness. Have you viewed the matter from the policeman's point of view? "The Right to Happiness" at the Majestic Theatre shows the cause and the effect of radical movements. It makes one ponder as nothing else will. It gives one a practical insight into existing conditions. It might prove invaluable in the present situation.

To Members of the Boston Police Department:

Your responsibilities to the community are heavy ones. On your shoulders rests the tranquility of thousands, the safety of millions. Behind you is an unstained and enviable record for fidelity, bravery and efficiency. Before you yawns a terrible ravine of doubt. No one man should have the temerity to decide the momentous issues at stake. Those in authority are there because they have a deep knowledge of fundamentals. Have you viewed the matter from the Commissioner's point of view? "The Right to Happiness" at the Majestic Theatre points out the dangers of autocracy as well as the dangers of radicalism. It may hold the key to your situation.

To Those Volunteering for Police Service:

With the best of intentions you are undertaking a colossal task. No matter what your qualifications, your previous experience, for you a view of "The Right to Happiness" is imperative. It shows all those things you must know.

To Every Man, Woman and Child in Boston:

The present crisis places your safety, your property, your lives in danger. It is of the utmost importance that you keep your head, and keep your mind free from bias. Don't blame the Police Commissioner; don't blame the policemen. They may both be wrong. See "The Right to Happiness," which shows you why such a situation arose, and how it may be remedied. This picture might have been named "The Square Deal." And under present conditions it is the most important event of the day in Boston. (Signed).

PATTERSON WINS UPHILL TENNIS CONTEST

By FRED B. ALEXANDER.

Forest Hills, L. I., Aug. 27.—The opening [illegible] National [illegible] matches.

Of the six [illegible] first round [illegible] chosen for [illegible] names [illegible] H. Alexander.

The last match was of [illegible] terest, as [illegible] the great Australian [illegible] against [illegible] could be drawn [illegible] adding [illegible] championship [illegible]

Patterson started [illegible] the first four [illegible] went to Alexander.

The same applied to Patterson's service in the [illegible] the score 2 to [illegible] Alexander [illegible] to have a [illegible]

ALEXANDER WINS FIRST SET.

With the [illegible] serving [illegible] in hand [illegible] Patterson [illegible] of a double fault [illegible] second service [illegible] 6—5.

A very hard fought [illegible] Australian's service gave [illegible] to Alexander [illegible] to Alexander [illegible] Patterson's [illegible] working well and [illegible] such an extent [illegible] had a [illegible] which the man [illegible] won at 6 [illegible] on the first [illegible] score two [illegible] service [illegible] missed the [illegible] an inch.

FINAL HARD FOUGHT.

The final game [illegible] game [illegible] chased to his [illegible] in Melbourne [illegible] came [illegible] hardest [illegible] ever been [illegible] 6-2 does not [illegible] close the final set was [illegible]

The "Comet" [illegible] straight sets from [illegible] McLaughlin played good tennis against the local expert, and the rallies were interesting. There were [illegible] in the other matches.

WILEY AND CHAPMAN WIN PROVIDENCE TEAM RACE

Providence, Aug. 27.—George Wiley of Syracuse [illegible] Newark defeated [illegible] Italy and Marcel Berg[illegible] France, in a forty [illegible] the velodrome [illegible] the distance [illegible] Chandler of Lynn [illegible] professional race.

How to Play Baseball

This is the eighty-second of a series of 100 articles by Hugh S. Fullerton, celebrated baseball expert, on "How to Play Baseball." In this lesson Mr. Fullerton tells how to pull a throw. These articles will be a feature of the American's sport pages each day. Don't miss them.

By HUGH S. FULLERTON.

One of the first axioms of baseball is that no player shall throw the ball behind a runner. The primary object of every player on an attacking team, therefore, is to force the opposing team to throw the ball and, if possible, to tempt the opposition to throw the ball to violate the primary rule of the game. This is done by even the smartest players who are willing to test their throwing ability and their brains against those of the attacking player.

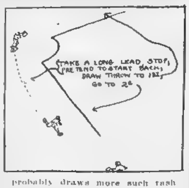
[illegible] therefore [illegible] a double opportunity [illegible] advance to the next base.

[illegible] tempted into [illegible] throws. A runner [illegible] off first can by taking a [illegible] stopping suddenly and [illegible] back draw a [illegible] first base and, by a [illegible] start, can proceed to second [illegible] better than an equal [illegible] of beating [illegible] the first baseman [illegible] throw [illegible] with [illegible] greater chances of [illegible]

[illegible] of drawing the throw [illegible] has suffered [illegible] recent years [illegible] toward [illegible] baseball [illegible] major leagues [illegible] been more and [illegible] which [illegible] opportunities [illegible] average [illegible] going [illegible] frequently [illegible] at first [illegible] can advance to second.

More [illegible] advancing [illegible] first base and on a sharp [illegible] try to take [illegible] turn as if [illegible] If the [illegible] he can draw the [illegible] and base and by a fast start in the opposite direction has a two to one chance of reaching third in safety.

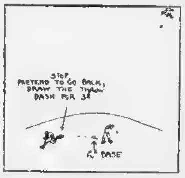
[illegible] of an [illegible] player [illegible] depends entirely [illegible] of the runner [illegible] Cobb, for instance,



TAKE A LONG LEAD, STOP, PRETEND TO START BACK, DRAW THROW TO 1ST, GO TO 2D

probably draws more such rash throws and gains more extra bases by such acting than any other runner. By his action he [illegible] opposing players into thinking that they can catch him in a blunder. His ability to start quickly in either direction and in full stride makes him successful.

[illegible] knack of running "up [illegible] almost marking time and then leaping into full a stride forward the instant the ball is thrown behind him. In one World's Series game he rounded second base at full speed on a hit [illegible] in [illegible] Evers or [illegible] of players [illegible] caught the ball [illegible] dived [illegible]



[illegible] was the greatest [illegible] trick [illegible] "monkeys" of the smartest base runners.

IT is said the term "carpet bagger" was first applied to political adventurers in the North. They were so called because they were regarded as having only enough property to fill a carpet bag. The name came into common use as a scornful term.

Stocks Weak in Boston and New York; Traders Fear Rail Strike

STEELS AMONG DECLINING ISSUES

Bears Seize Upon Threatened Labor Trouble as a Raiding Reason

By W. H. ROSS,
Financial Editor.

Stocks were weak in New York at noon, having failed to rally from the depression which began with trading. After a slight first-hour recovery prices sank below the opening level. Speculation was moderate in volume and of a professional character. While the public did not buy stocks, there was no selling of consequence from that source. Among the few strong issues were Car & Foundry, which sold at its record highest price, U. S. Rubber and Industrial Alcohol.

Steels were among the weak issues. Crucible was erratic, selling down to 146¼ and up to 150½ during the morning. At its lowest it was off 2¾ and at its highest it was up 1½. By noon U. S. Steel was off ¼ at 101⅛. Its forenoon range was from 100⅝ to 101⅞.

Largest declines were by the Chandler, which was off 7 at 241; General Motors 2½ at 228; Sumatra 1½ at 82; Tobacco Products 1½ at 92½; Central Leather 1¼ at 94; Hide & Leather preferred and common off 1¾ each at 116 and 30, respectively; Nova Scotia Steel 6¼ at 67, N. Y. Central 2 at 71¾, Reading 1 at 79, Southern Pacific 1⅝ at 96¾; Texas & Pacific 1½ at 44½; Utah Copper 1 at 83; Anaconda 1⅜ at 67¾; Pan American 1 at 109, and N. Y. Royal Dutch 1⅛ at 89. At its morning lowest Atlantic Gulf was off 4½ at 148.

Call money was quoted at 6 per cent.

RECESSIONAL AT OPENING.

Fear of a strike by railway shopmen caused a recessional when the market opened, and it affected the whole list. Steels and equipments were the weakest groups, but they showed the most rallying power within a few minutes. Issues to decline the most at the start were American Locomotive, Baldwin, Bethlehem B, U. S. Steel, Anaconda, Central Leather, Southern Pacific, Texas & Pacific and American Smelting. They all declined a point or more on initial sales. Crucible began fractionally lower, rallied and showed more than a point gain within thirty minutes. Car & Foundry opened unchanged and ascended nearly three points. There was some selling by outsiders at the outset, but the bulk of the offerings were by bear professionals, who seized the latest phase of the labor situation as a pretext for another raid.

STRIKE TALK WEAKENS STOCKS.

Talk of a nation-wide strike by rail employes chilled bullish sentiment. It was general opinion that but for labor troubles business would have a fast stride, although low foreign exchange is holding up foreign buying of American products and there are a number of minor clouds on the horizon. Banking interests are understood to be more concerned at present over foreign exchange than labor demands. The public, however, is less versed in the intricacies and effect of the former than in what would result from stopping all railroad transportation.

MR. MORGAN AND A STOKER.

When J. P. Morgan boarded the steamship Lapland for Europe he sought to avoid publicity by boarding the liner over a lower deck gangplank used by the crew. But he was recognized by a grimy stoker, who shouted in hearty greeting:

"Come on, Mr. Morgan; this way is reserved for stokers and billionaires."

Chile Copper Co. Output

During July this year the Chile Copper Company produced 7,161,444 pounds of copper. Its July, 1918, production was 7,556,000 pounds. In March, the latter year, its output amounted to 10,192,000 pounds.

Ocean Rates Higher

A new schedule went into effect on August 20, which advanced ocean freight rates about 20 per cent., when shipments of many important commodities were made from North Atlantic to European ports not in the United Kingdom. Coffee, canned goods, oils, staves, flour, refrigerated meats and sugar are among commodities affected.

Less Anthracite Mined

During the week ended by August 16 the amount of anthracite mined decreased 225,000 net tons, compared with the previous week. The output for the week was but 1,612,000 net tons. During the second week of August, 1918, production amounted to 1,425,000.

Salt Creek Oil Production

Oil production in the Salt Creek district of Wyoming has been at an average of 12,500 barrels or more for several years. This is the best showing made by any field east of the Rocky Mountains, with the exception of the Spindletop region in Texas.

City and County Loans

Gardner, Mass., has awarded to the First National Bank, Gardner, at 4.45 per cent. discount a temporary loan of $25,000, dated August 26 and maturing December 30, 1919.

North Adams, Mass., has withdrawn $20,000 4½ per cent. coupon "water department equipment" bond offer, due to an error in drawing of the order. Bonds will again be offered for sale during first week of September.

Wellesley has awarded two $20,000 notes, dated Aug. 25, due Dec. 25 to S. N. Bond & Co. at 4.47 per cent. discount and a premium $1.25.

PRICES OFF IN QUIET BOSTON MARKET

Activity Confined to a Few Issues, and Declines General

Prices declined in Boston when the exchange opened, the same influences operating that were as well felt in New York. Activity was confined to a few issues. They were mining and automobile equipment stocks. Early price changes were narrow, but there was more breadth to fluctuation when the market grew weaker. The trend was downward all the morning.

Issues to decline the most during the forenoon were United Fruit, Punta Alegre, New Haven, Boston & Maine, Mohawk, Calumet & Arizona and Parish Bingham. At their lowest they were down a point or more.

A few stocks advanced fractionally, including Mayflower, Old Colony and North Butte. Almost all stocks were in the recessional list, however. The decline of rail shares was due to apprehension of a transportation tieup by shopmen.

Issues to figure prominently in the trading were Carson Hill, which sold a little lower, Parish Bingham, Root & Van Dervoort and Mullen Body. Swift & Co. and other packing stocks were fractionally lower and quiet.

BOSTON FINANCIAL NEWS.

The Butte & Superior Mining Co. has confirmed the report of a settlement of litigation between that company and the Clark Montana Realty Co., which has been in progress for some years and which involved a large portion of the ore bodies in the Black Rock claim of Butte & Superior.

The United States Smelting, Refining & Mining Co., through its subsidiary, the Real del Monte y Pachuca Co., has acquired the Santa Ana property comprising a territory of over 200 acres of mining ground in the Pachuca district.

Kerr Lake Silver Output

The production of silver by the Kerr Lake Mining Company during July, 1919, amounted to 196,637 ounces, 55,252 ounces less than for the corresponding month of last year.

Chicago Grain Market

Chicago, Aug. 27.—Corn opened ½c higher to 1¼c lower. Oats were ⅛ to ⅜c lower. Provisions opened lower. Opening prices were: Corn—September, 1.78 to 1.78½; December, 1.41½ to 1.42; May, 1.37. Oats—September, 71½; December, 71½; May, 77¾. Lard—October, 28.50.

New York Sub-Treasury Gain

New York, Aug. 27.—The sub-treasury gained $1,887,000 from the banks on Tuesday, making a cash net gain since Friday of $4,609,000.

Wall Street Briefs

The Seaboard Air Line is contemplating converting 350 of its engines into oil burners and several large petroleum companies are submitting bids for a five-year supply of fuel oil.

Information from official sources is that the Interstate Commerce Commission's Division of Valuation has already allowed the Rock Island system a valuation of $410,000,000, which is 201,000,000 in excess of its total capital issues, including common stock.

Pullman Co. profits from its manufacturing averaged approximately $2,000,000 net for past two fiscal years. This would bring company's net income, after deducting corporate expenses, up to about $13,550,000, or 11.29 per cent. on stock.

The National Bank of Commerce of New York reports that H. A. Stevens, assistant cashier, and G. W. Curtis, of its foreign department, have sailed to spend several months studying financial and economic conditions in Central Europe.

The Sinclair Consolidated Oil Corporation will be formed with authorized capitalization of 5,500,000 shares of no par value, as a consolidation of the present Sinclair Consolidated Oil, Sinclair Oil & Refining and Sinclair Gulf Corporations. One share of the new company will be exchanged for each share of the three constituent companies. Stockholders of these companies will be asked to ratify the consolidation at a special meeting on September 22.

Cotton Prices Open Lower

New York, Aug. 27.—A favorable weather map and disappointing cables encouraged selling at the opening of the cotton market and initial prices showed losses of from 5 to 16 points. After the start selling depressed prices and at the end of fifteen minutes the list showed net losses of 20 points. Opening prices were: October, 31.85; December, 32.00; January, 31.95; March, 32.05; May, 32.05.

COPPER MARKET FIRM BUT TRADE IS DULL

The copper market is still dull but leading producers are maintaining their quotations. More domestic buying is expected next month, but when foreign business will develop is uncertain. Japan has bought about 30,000,000 pounds of red metal in this country within a few months. This occasioned surprise in the trade, as Japan has greatly increased the output of its own mines within a few years. Its record production for a year is 240,000 pounds in 1917.

The Japanese explain American purchases by stating they have been unable to mine all required copper profitably.

Central Leather declared quarterly dividend of 1¾ per cent. on preferred, payable Oct. 1 to stock of record Sept. 10.

EDITORIAL PAGE OF THE BOSTON AMERICAN AUGUST 27, 1919 BOSTON.

It Is Time That New England Adopt Liberal Sunday Laws

The enforcement of the law prohibiting open-air games during any part of the Sabbath day is compelling all classes to reconsider the question of making the Sabbath an absolutely closed day for every form of sport.

The biblical injunction that we must keep the Sabbath holy has been interpreted by all kinds of Christian sects, but none have made it the dour day that the Puritans made it at the height of their religious zeal and fervor, or, as their opponents said, of their fanaticism.

America, and indeed England, owe to the Puritans more than to any other religious sect a strong early strain that has lasted down through years of dilution and given us a robustness of political and social constitution which has been a great heritage. But the dour phlegm of the Puritans was not a source of strength. It was more or less an affectation and a protest against the frivolous pursuit of pleasure by the aristocratic class in England which amounted to downright ribaldry. Those who were disgusted with the licentious pursuit of pleasure by the British aristocracy during that period reacted against all pleasure with an unreasonableness that characterized the pursuit of pleasure by the cavaliers. Macaulay, not an unfriendly chronicler of the Puritans, said that the Puritans prohibited bear-baiting not because it gave pain to the bear, but because it gave pleasure to the spectators.

The result of this reaction against wanton pleasure was the gloomy Puritan Sunday and indeed the gloomy Puritan manners during all the week. But time has left nothing of this pleasure-hating affectation save the Puritan Sabbath in New England. Everywhere in the small part of the world that the Puritan pleasure-hating was enacted into law time has repealed the law concerning the Sabbath, either formally or by common sense, except in New England.

Any one who reflects upon the enforcement of the Puritan Sabbath must feel that this last vestige of the affected part of Puritanism must disappear. The rest commanded by the Bible does not mean always physical inaction. Rest in a high strung community more often means a CHANGE of action. In the old days we knew nothing about the human nerves just as we knew nothing about electricity. With the advance of knowledge we have learned that the most important part of the body to keep healthy—the greatest cause of disorder and discontent—are the nerves, which can be rested often much better by a change from a LESS to a MORE active life. Exercise itself is rest to some. Pleasure is essentially rest for a majority of people. Doctors recognize the fact that there is no cure for so many of our bodily ills as contentment, and there is nothing which produces contentment like pleasure, for pleasure is of its essence. Of course, we mean reasonable, clean pleasure.

In the breaking up of the Puritan Sabbath it has been left full of inconsistencies. For generations we have permitted the practice of driving a horse on the Sabbath for pleasure, yet it was working the horse. We permit driving automobiles for pleasure, yet every mile an automobile goes accumulates work for somebody some time, in its upkeep. We permit promenading for pleasure, and it is impossible to distinguish any difference in principle between promenading for pleasure and playing baseball or golf for pleasure.

During and after the Civil War the Puritan Sabbath was greatly altered. Many breaches of the stern, frowning old fortress was compelled by the nation's still sterner necessities, and several of the battles which helped to save the nation were won on the Sabbath. In the recent war we repealed the old blue laws with respect to gardening on the Sabbath and we permitted the continuance over Sabbath of a great many industries.

It is entirely possible to alter the Puritan Sabbath somewhat and yet keep up churchgoing. Indeed, it is possible that its alteration would stimulate churchgoing. We do not go to church in the afternoon, and it might be that if we allowed healthy outdoor sports in the afternoon there would be some stimulus to going to church in the morning, and it will greatly aid the churches to suppress the vices which arise from the idleness of the young men on a Sunday afternoon.

Some test of public opinion on this question ought to be made.

There's Glory Enough for All; Therefore Pass It Around

The proposal to make permanent the rank of General now held temporarily by Peyton C. March, Chief of Staff of the United States Army, involves more than a reward for one man.

It involves recognition of the increased importance which has come to attach to the principle of staff organization in modern warfare.

Most persons now realize that to put a great army in the field requires organizing practically all the forces of a nation behind it.

Few of these supporting activities do not somewhere connect with specialized military knowledge. The function of the staff is to provide that specialized knowledge and to coordinate and guide these supporting activities.

Before Major-General March was made its chief, the staff of our army had not been adequate for a war of even moderate size.

March, in a surprisingly brief time, unified it, enlarged it, made it effective. The armistice came before his plans of staff reconstruction had been completed, but the fact that it came so soon was due in no small degree to what he had already done.

The public saw little of this vital work. The public's eye was on the fighting front, which registered without conspicuously revealing the infinite detail of patient preliminary preparation wrought by the organization over which March presided.

This staff work was heartbreaking to the soldiers who were under orders to do it. They wanted field commands and the excitement and applause which went with them. Instead, they had to burn midnight oil in exhaustive devotion to tasks of preparation, foregoing dreams of glory and, indeed, receiving much cruel derision from persons who erroneously viewed them merely as "swivel-chair soldiers" and "chair-warmers."

It is not a detraction of Pershing or the other of our fine fighting generals, it is the simple truth to say that the front could not have won without the staff's support. Front and staffs are complementary.

In his half of the great undertaking Pershing functioned capably and with a splendid poise. Because his half was 3,000 miles from home, and nearest the enemy, the country approves the suggestion of the President that Pershing be given precedence in honors.

The country will err if it shall fail properly to appreciate and reward the men in the army who stayed home to do the things which made possible Pershing's successful work abroad.

Personally, March did a work that soldiers in a position to judge testify was masterly.

But the issue which the Congress faces with respect to him is larger than a personal issue.

It involves whether those who did the hard home work of war making shall be discriminated against in the official allotments of recognition.

One More Urgent Word About Coal

Even at the risk of seeming insistent and of being called fussbudgets and alarmists we call attention again to the probability, unless immediate measures are taken to prevent it, of a coal famine next Winter that will mean great suffering and many deaths.

The shipments from the anthracite mines are up to date five million tons less than last year.

Coal that is still in the mine or at the mine cannot be burned in far away furnaces.

It is too late now to place the blame for the falling off in mine production. That is past correction.

The mine men claim that there is plenty of coal ready for hauling if cars were available.

Congress has directed some sort of an investigation of the coal question, but by the time the investigators have reported, Winter will be here and the chance to avoid suffering and save lives will have vanished.

Something should be DONE NOW to make certain that every pound of coal that is out of the mines shall be hauled, before cold weather, to points where it will be available for consumption.

Somebody in authority should give this vital question attention.

Somebody should be given the authority to handle the coal question while there is a chance to do something.

A lot of people froze for their country because during the war the railroads had to be used for hauling the necessities of the army and the navy and could not be used for coal.

There is no excuse for repeating that suffering heedlessly and needlessly.

More Truth Than Poetry

THE MERRY SONG OF THE PROFITEER

By S. E. KISER

OH, it's merry in the morning and it's merry all the day
It's merry to increase the killing pace;
Piling up the profits that the people have to pay
Makes the world a very bright and merry place.
Here a little, there a little added to the price,
Now and then a skimpy pint or pound;
Charge 'em more for gasoline, soak 'em for their ice;
Catch 'em when they come and go, soak 'em all around.

KEEP on putting money in the till,
Let your victims worry if they will,
Never mind how bitterly they grumble or complain;
If babies that are hungry droop and die,
More will take their places bye and bye,
So be merry, merry, merry, and be always on the gain.

OH, it's merry to be adding to the car fare and the rent,
And merry to mark up the price of shoes;
Charge 'em more for milk and eggs—ten or twelve per cent.—
Have a merry snicker when they hear the news.
More for butter, more for bacon, more for bread and cheese;
Never overlook a chance to sting,
For there's nothing that is sweeter than the constant ecstasies
That the profiteer's increasing profits bring.

PROFIT, profit, profit! It's the sweetest word there is;
Keep adding to your profits every day;
Don't let conscience interfere, always stick to biz;
Make 'em hump and hustle, get it all away!
More for sugar, more for coffee, more for clothes and coal;
Hit 'em hard and hit 'em often, too.
For it's cunning profiteering that brings solace to the soul,
In spite of all the kicking they may do.

TRY to keep on getting all they get,
Always make your profits larger yet,
Never mind how bitterly they grumble in their need;
If their wives and babies weep,
Gouge 'em hard and gouge 'em deep,
And be merry, merry, merry, though they curse you for your greed.

COURAGEOUSLY OVERWORKED

It appears that Golfer Ouimet went down to defeat owing to the exhaustion that he suffered after having played 36 holes with Chick Evans. May we not begin to look for a strike on the part of the professional golf players for shorter hours?

By K. C. B.

DEAR K. C. B.: About a week or so ago in one of the business houses in Santa Barbara I saw on a bulletin board a notice signed by the owner of the store and reading as follows:

"I went into a store today to buy some green corn, and it was 50 cents per dozen. I know you boys can't afford corn at that price, so I am raising your salaries 10 per cent. In other words, 'Green Corn Did It.'"

Now, really, Mr. K. C. B., isn't this worth mentioning? I think so, and I wish you would tell the public about it in your own way. Who knows but that some one else may get the "Green Corn" spirit?

AND THE kindly deeds.
* * *
AND THE "Green Corn" men.
* * *
THAT ARE scattered about.
* * *
IN EVERY town.
* * *
ALL OVER the land.
* * *
AND YOU know, Cassie.
* * *
AND SO do I.
* * *
THAT THE greatest instrument.
* * *
FOR EVIL or good.
* * *
IN THIS old land.
* * *
OR ANY old land.
* * *
IS A bad example.
* * *
OR A good example.
* * *
AND JUST for instance.
* * *
NEAR WHERE I live.
* * *
IS A Summer home.
* * *
WHERE KIDS are brought.
* * *
FROM THE city streets.
* * *
AND JUST suppose.
* * *
I WENT up there.
* * *
AND TOOK all the kids.
* * *
TO THE village store.
* * *
AND BOUGHT them stuff.
* * *
AND AFTER that.
* * *
I WENT over to Bechdolt's.
* * *
WHO LIVES near by.
* * *
AND STOLE a ham.
* * *
JUST SUPPOSE all that.
* * *
AND THEN tell me.
* * *
WHICH DEED of the two.
* * *
WOULD THE papers print?
* * *
STEALING THE ham!
* * *
WHY OF course they would.
* * *
AND DARN my hide.
* * *
* * *
IF I'M not going up.
* * *
TO THAT Summer home
* * *
AND GET those kids.
* * *
AND BUY them some stuff.
* * *
AND I'D never have done it.
* * *
IF YOU hadn't written.
* * *
ABOUT THE "Green Corn" man.
* * *
AND STARTED me thinking.

I THANK you.

Everybody Work

Imagination's Power
The Roosevelts and Advertising

Bernard Shaw has a scheme to pay the debt of England. He would treat the man or woman not working as slackers were treated in war. He says, "until our debt is cleared to the uttermost farthing, no able-bodied man or woman should be exempt from the obligation to do a fair day's work toward paying it off.

Ruthless conscription of productive labor is his plan. The problem then would be to deal with overproduction, glutted markets and the other ancient woes of industry. Shaw, who is by marriage a rich man, is opposed to the conscription of wealth. That would not work, he says. But it may have to work, unless England decides to repudiate her debt.

The number of beautiful female faces has increased greatly because of moving pictures. Millions of young girls look every day at the carefully chosen, most beautiful faces on the screen, and by physical imitation and psychological influence they become more beautiful. We may have a race of women all with curly hair, rosebud mouth and eyes two inches wide.

The influence of the eye upon mind and body is very great. The Bible tells you how the man that was to have all the striped cattle, arranged to have the mother cows look at striped objects constantly. The calves were born striped. Scientists say it is not so, but how do they know?

In Greece the human body was brought to greatest perfection. Sparta killed off the badly shaped babies, made the handsomest young men and women run public races entirely naked and with no thought of immodesty. Constantly beholding beautifully made bodies improved the shape of the race. You cannot think of an ancient Greek knock-kneed or bow-legged. The modern dress that makes a running woman move her legs sidewise like a sidewheel steamer, and the modern ungainly flapping trouser's legs have produced imperfect bodies.

What limits would you set to the power of imagination? A street car conductor watched a lady, hot, uncomfortable, sitting at a window that happened to have no glass in the windowframe. She fanned herself violently, then put down the frame in which there was no glass. After that she was much more cheerful. A man felt that he was suffocating in his bedroom, got up in the dark, tried to open the window and could not. Finally he broke the glass, filled his lungs with air, went back to bed and slept well. In the morning he found that he had broken the glass of a book case.

Colonel Roosevelt's letters, written when Japanese and Russians were negotiating peace in this country, say: "The more I see of the Czar, the Kaiser and the Mikado, the better I am content with Democracy, even if we have to include the American newspapers as one of its assets; liability would be a better term."

Colonel Roosevelt, himself an editor, in a way, would probably have omitted the advertising power of newspapers from his general condemnation. No one knew better than Mr. Roosevelt, descendant of an ancient Dutch family, that he owed as much to advertising as does "Old Dutch Cleanser." Roosevelt and the cleanser both required strength to succeed, but they needed advertising even more than strength.

At this moment, Colonel Roosevelt's son, Theodore the second, is making speeches, doing what can be done by a number two to follow in the footsteps of number one. Young Mr. Roosevelt offers in his latest speech a Roosevelt phrase, "meet 'em, head on."

He decides that the I. W. W., the Bolshevik and the Socialist are all criminals and should be treated as such, and offers that as his political platform. The young man is entertaining, in a Roosevelt way, but that would not do him any good, or carry him forward without newspapers to advertise his first, tottering footsteps on the road to notoriety.

Archduke Joseph, one of the Hapsburgs, decided that his people needed a royal leader, and announced himself head of the Hungarian government. The Allies said, "We don't want any Hapsburgs, get out." The royal and imperial Hapsburg leader gets out promptly.

It is not so with the unknown and not royal individuals, Lenine and Trotsky, in Russia. They made up their minds that Russia needed leaders from the people. The Allies all said, "Get out," and this country has soldiers there trying to shoot them out. But they do not get out.
